PROTECT OUR CHILDREN, IS HOOVER PLEA

President Urges Safeguards
Beyond Reach of Individual Parents

LOOKS TOWARD FUTURE

Generation Properly Born and Reared Would Solve
Many Problems

Washington, D. C. (P)—"If we could have but one generation of properly born, trained, educated and healthy children, a thousand other problems of government would vanish."

These are the words of President Hoover, ringing today in the ears of the delegates to the White House conference on child health and protection as they settled to translating his appeal for American childhood into a national welfare program.

The president, last night in opening the conference, asked for safeguards and services to childhood beyond the reach of the individual parent, which can be provided only by the community, the state or the nation.

Secretary Wilbur, conference chairman, promised that no series of resolutions, but a program "direct, simple, and interesting" would result from the sessions. The president, Wilbur said, would then appoint a continuation committee to complete the work.

The chief objective, a higher human standard of health and mental life, was emphasized by Mr. Hoover in his address.

To every case of childhood he gave a special thought—the 10,000,000 deficient children, the 35,000,000 "vivid, romping" every day, children, the orphaned children, the boys and girls concerned in the child labor problem. He discussed their crowding into cities, their need of special adjustment to a machine age.

"The nation looks to you to derive positive, definite, guiding judgments," he told the conference members.

"The problems of the child are not always the problems of the child alone," he said. "In the vision of the whole of our social fabric, we have loosened new ambitions, new energies; we have produced a complexity of life for which there is no precedent. With machines ever enlarging man's power and capacity, with electricity extending over the world its magic, with the air giving us a wholly new realm, our children must be prepared to meet entirely new contacts and new forces. They must be physically strong and mentally placed to stand up under the increasing pressure of life. Their problem is not alone one of physical health, but of mental, emotional, spiritual health.

"These are the problems that I charge you to answer. This task that you have come here to perform has never been done before. These problems are not easily answered, they reach the very root of our national life. We need to meet them squarely and to accuse ourselves as frankly as possible, to see all the implications that trail in our wake, and to place the blame where it lies and set resolutely to attack it."

The chief executive told the conference that the problem falls into three groups: first, the protection and stimulation of the normal child; second, aid to the physically defective and handicapped child; third, the problems of the delinquent child.

MUST LEARN CAUSES

Asserting that of 45,000,000 children, 10,000,000 are deficient with more than 80 per cent of these not receiving the necessary attention, the president said "we must get to the cause of their handicaps from the beginnings of their lives; we must not leave one of them uncared for."

Mr. Hoover said that in dealing with the complex problems of the delinquent child, "we need to turn the

Merge Radio Stations In State, Plea

Washington, D. C. (P)—Consolidation of radio stations WHA, Madison, and WLB, Stevens Point, to provide an educational forum and increase facilities for broadcasting agricultural information was urged again today before Examiner Pratt of the Federal Radio commission.

Armstrong Perry, radio education specialist of the National Education association and the department of interior, declared that for educational purposes the consolidated stations would reach the entire state. Perry cited the failure of commercial stations to meet requirements of an educational nature, as an argument for the consolidation.

Charles L. Hill, Rosendale, Wis., chairman of the state department of agriculture and markets, which supervises WLB, testified that under the present operation people in Northern Wisconsin are not being served properly with radio market information. He said WLB reaches only farmers within a 10-mile radius of Stevens Point and farmers of Wisconsin have depended on the station to assist them in following price trends to obtain the most advantageous prices for their products.

Dairymen, especially, found it profitable to listen to WLB programs, he said.

Perry's attempt to introduce a report of the national advisory committee on radio education was successfully opposed by counsel for stations WELA, Milwaukee, and WBEW, both of which are profitable.

WBEW, which is a profit-making station, however, to introduce at the afternoon's hearing, the findings of an investigation of radio educational facilities throughout the nation, which he conducted recently.

Reich May Ask Young Plan Changes

HEAVY BURDEN IS LIKELY TO FORCE ACTION

Curtius Says Germany
Won't Repudiate Plan
But May Seek Relief

Berlin (P)—Foreign Minister Julius Curtius today told the Reichstag that Germany, after setting her financial house in order may be compelled to invoke measures of safeguard provided in part eight of the Young plan to bring about alleviations permissible under the plan's terms.

These measures, it is recalled, refer to a moratorium and the convening of a special advisory committee.

At the same time the foreign minister assured the world that Germany does not intend to tear up the Young plan or depart from its provisions; that German government fully realizes how far-reaching such invocation of the Young plan's alleviation provisions would be, and that hence it would resort to it only if the burdens became such that the German people were in danger of being robbed of their social and moral foundations.

He devoted the second part of an address to the assembled representatives of Germany's states and provinces to an extended reply to Premier Tardieu of France, concerning the Young plan, which he said was a "disarmament of policy since the elections of Sept. 14 which saw so large a Fascist gain in the Reichstag."

The foreign minister expressed the opinion that the French government apparently intends to change its course completely, for both the treaty of Versailles and the Locarno pact make disarmament incumbent upon the victors of the World War after Germany's disarmament has become a fact.

The French thesis of a "one-sided obligation," he said, endangers the whole league of nations idea.

"Germany," he continued, demands an early convocation of a world disarmament conference.

Endorsing the cabinet's financial reform work at the beginning of his speech Dr. Curtius said:

FUTURE UNCERTAIN

"We must face the fact that nobody can know today whether the measures by which we are to put our house in order, will suffice and when we must take the international steps provided for in the treaties for the protection of our economy and exchange."

"It is beside the point to see in such an attitude of the Reich's government a questioning of Germany's signature. We shall not tear up the new plan, shall not leave the treaty basis."

"But we have not given any guarantee for the feasibility of the plan. Dr. Stresemann (late German foreign minister) as early as June 24, 1929, declared nobody could guarantee that the Young plan could be fulfilled and that nobody in the world expected a guarantee from us. Even our critics must realize that since the Paris conference of experts in 1929, the world's entire economic condition has shifted and there has been a veritable landslide so far as Germany is concerned."

"It must also be realized that there has been but little noticeable of the cooperation which, according to the wishes of the experts and the expressed assurances of mutuality by the government, was to be an essential aid to solving Germany's problem. Considering the seriousness and far-reaching nature of a decision of the Reich's government to make use of the privileges vouchsafed in the Young plan, it is self-evident that the government will act only after careful weighing of all the factors involved."

Battle Looms In House On Reapportionment To Conform With Census

Washington (P)—The qualities of a firecracker, well filled with political dynamite, inherent in reapportionment of the house of representatives, today were becoming increasingly evident.

The old struggle of city versus country, in all its ramifications, poked up its ugly face as members from the states which are to lose if the recently announced census plan of redistributing the house seats prevails, sounded their fighting intentions.

One group will seek to have aliens excluded from the count upon which reapportionment is based. Retailing, members from the industrial cities filled with non-naturalized workers, threaten to have the non-voting Negro population of southern states cut from the tabulation.

Both plans have been up before and have failed, but not by any handsome margins to guarantee safety for the census plan. In fact, its supporters base their chief hopes on such utter disagreement in congress that the legislative body will be able to do nothing. Then the census distribution would automatically take effect, not for the seventy-second congress just elected but for the one which will be chosen in 1932.

Yet such an outcome would not remove reapportionment as one more stumbling block to speedy disposal of legislation, necessary to avert an extra session.

The anti-alien movement comes from the middle west and south. Representative Dickinson, Republican, of Iowa, a senator-elect, announced he would renew his 1929 efforts for this plan. Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, termed inclusion of the foreigners an "outstanding evil." He set their total at 7,500,000.

Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, answered by promising to again propose reduction in representation "in proportion to disfranchisement of the Negro in the south."

The house in 1929 put both plans into the bill which authorized the reapportionment count but took them out again after the members viewed with consternation what they had accomplished.

Phil's Lead Over Foe Is 222,938 Votes

Madison (P)—Governor-elect Philip LaFollette beat his Democratic opponent by a margin of 222,938 votes in the election, Nov. 4, according to official election returns certified by the state board of canvassers here today.

LaFollette polled 392,958 votes. His opponent trailed as follows: Charles E. Hammersley, Democrat, 170,020; Frank B. Metcalfe, Socialist, 25,607; Alfred B. Tarnston, Prohibition party candidate, 14,812; Fred Bassett Blair, Independent Democrat, 2,938.

The total vote cast in the election was 606,625 which approximated the number of ballots in the September primary in which LaFollette defeated Gov. Walter Kohler for the Republican nomination. Theodore Dammann, secretary of state, polled the largest vote in the last election. There were 398,523 ballots cast for him, or 5,504 more than were cast for LaFollette.

The official figures for other contests are as follows:

Lieutenant governor—Berthold J. Hustung, Democrat, 202,871; Otto D. Kahl, Prohibition, 13,804; Henry Huber, Republican, 265,256; John B. Seaver, Socialist, 35,728; William Clark, Independent Communist, 3,151.

Secretary of state—Margaret V. Fragstein, Democrat, 115,617; J. Keith Peckham, Prohibition, 12,438; Theodore Dammann, Republican, 398,523; Emil Tesch, Socialist, 34,034; Edward Nehmer, Independent Communist, 2,899.

State treasurer—Christian A. Hogan, Democrat, 118,021; W. C. Pickering, Prohibition, 12,190; Solomon Levin, Republican, 395,078; Alma Steuber, Socialist, 33,943; William Martilla, Independent Communist, 11.

Attorney general—John J. Boyle, Democrat, 125,315; Burton S. Hawley, Prohibition, 12,638; John Reynolds, Republican, 375,616; Glenn P. Turner, Socialist, 35,067; William Martilla, Independent Socialist, 2,839.

The constitutional amendment permitting a governor to veto part of an appropriation bill without vetoing the entire bill was adopted by a 98,952 majority. The official returns showed 52,635 votes for and 153,703 votes for its adoption.

HUNGARIAN PRINCE OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Aristocracy Pays Tribute to
Last Male of Hapsburg
Direct Line

Budapest, Hungary (P)—Hungarian legitimists today celebrated the eighteenth birthday and attainment of majority of Prince Otto, last of the Hapsburg direct male line and pretender to this country's throne.

The high Hungarian aristocracy gathered this forenoon in the basilican church for a brilliant pontifical mass in honor of the day. The church square, filled with Budapest's curious, was garlanded and ornamented at great cost for the occasion but entirely at the expense of the legitimists.

There were two notable absentees at the ceremony, young Prince Otto, who is in school at Steenockerzeel, Belgium, and any representative for the government.

The service was celebrated by the Bishop, Count Miklos. The congregation included Count Albert Aponyi and his countess, and Counts Zichy, Ivan, Csokonai, Somssich, Louis, Bathany, George, Pallavicini, and Marenzi and their ladies.

There were no incidents of any sort in Budapest and the populace appeared entirely tranquil, almost indifferent to the happenings.

GOLD FOLLOWS IN WAKE OF WESTERN BLIZZARDS

Denver, Colo. (P)—Storms which have spread a deep blanket of snow over the west were vanishing today, only to be replaced by tumbling temperatures. Overcast skies for the most part were giving way to clear skies.

Defying forecasters' predictions, snows continued in the Rockies yesterday paralyzing highway and seriously handicapping railroad traffic. Scores of automobiles were stalled between Palmer Lake and Colorado Springs. The Palmer Lake city hall was transformed into a house of refuge for the marooned travelers.

High winds tossed the white blanket with abandon in New Mexico, blocking highways, streets five feet of snow in the piles of Raton and marooning hunting parties in the Gila mountains.

TWO KILLED AS OFFICERS BATTLE WITH SMUGGLERS

El Paso, Texas (P)—Frank Barncastle of Las Cruces, N. M., and Jesus Paz, El Paso, were shot and killed in a gun fight last night with United States customs officers at the outskirts of the city. Nine men engaged in the fight. One, believed wounded, escaped.

The customs officers said they came upon 11 men afoot who had forced the Rio Grande aggregate extending 22 miles of Mexican liquor into an automobile parked on the American side of the river.

The officers said the alleged smugglers opened fire when ordered to surrender.

ARREST 2 FOR MURDER OF WOMAN IN OREGON

Portland, Ore. (P)—District Attorney Stanley Myers announced he had ordered the arrest of Nelson C. Bowler, 34, retired capitalist, and Mrs. Irma Loucks Paris, 35, his former secretary, on first degree murder charges in connection with the death last week of Bowler's wife, Leone, 33, Portland society matron.

BUDGET ARMS LIMIT VOTED BY COMMITTEE

Approved at Geneva Over
Opposition of Americans,
French, Japanese

Geneva (P)—Over the opposition of the Americans, French and Japanese, the disarmament commission today approved employment of the budgetary method for limiting naval armaments.

This principle had previously been adopted for land war materials, although Hugh S. Gibson, the American delegate, made clear that the United States could not accept this system for itself.

Lord Cecil of Great Britain, who championed today's action, recognized the impossibility of concluding a general convention providing budgetary limitation for fleets unless some way of accommodating the American and Japanese position could be found.

He declared this scheme for fixing a maximum figure for naval expenditures was regarded by the British as purely supplementary to the direct method embodied in the Washington and London treaties.

The vote for the budget limit for navies was: For—Great Britain, Canada, Russia, Ireland, Norway, Persia, Finland, Italy, Rumania, Holland, Against—United States, France, Japan.

The commission also concluded adoption of the naval limitation draft which transfers the principles of the Washington and London treaties into a general convention formula for all nations. The articles approved today concerned definitions, exemptions and rules for the transfer of tonnage.

The figures in the two existing treaties were placed in the general draft as illustrations of what has been done in this direction already, and not to bind the general conference.

The commission moved rapidly today under a fire of amendments from Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian delegate, all aiming at radical reduction. The commission, however, declined to insert any figures except those already in force among the great naval powers.

Completing the naval draft, the commission arrived at air armaments but decided to reserve this for discussion on third and final reading.

PUSH ROAD AID BILL FOR DROUGHT RELIEF

Action Expected to Stimulate Employment of Farmers in Arid Regions

Washington (P)—Congress will be asked to make the $125,000,000 allotted for federal aid in road construction in 1932 available immediately on enactment of the agriculture department's supply bill.

Chairmen of state drought relief committees, meeting with the national committee, were so advised today by C. W. Warburton, secretary of the national committee. Secretary Hyde and the budget bureau will join in the recommendation.

If agreed to, Warburton explained, the road funds for the fiscal year 1932 would be available probably before March 1, rather than on July 1, the beginning of the 1932 fiscal year.

Warburton pointed out that during September and October, $15,740,000 in federal funds for highway construction were used as compared with $3,826,000 in the same two months last year. This acceleration was to stimulate employment to help farmers suffering from the drought.

Contracts made against the 1932 allotment for road construction are expected to represent aggregate expenditures by state and federal governments of $30,000,000 prior to the first of January.

$26,500 In Fund To Help City's Poor

Although a few prospective givers still are to be seen before all the detail work of the Home Aid campaign is concluded, the sponsoring committee this morning announced that a total of $26,500 had been paid and pledged for the relief of distress in Appleton this winter. It is hoped that the fund will reach $27,000 when all the contributions are in, because there is every indication that all this money and more too will be needed.

Of the total subscription $21,401.77 was paid in cash and the remainder in pledges, most of them to be paid immediately upon call.

The work of organizing for relief work is progressing rapidly. The newly engaged social worker, Miss Carol Clapp whose salary and expenses are paid for separately from the Home Aid fund, has been established in an office in the Whedon building, 105 N. Oneida-st., and is organizing her work.

The cooperating relief societies sharing in this fund have been working steadily to meet the demands made on them and the money subscribed in the campaign soon will be made available to them. The Salvation Army's budget of $5,000 raised in this campaign, will be paid at once.

A committee consisting of J. J. Plank and Daniel P. Steinberg, both members of the campaign committee, has been charged with the work of establishing the social worker and they have made excellent progress.

VAN HANDLE, SAXE, LYONS PLEAD GUILTY

Hookup Between Wisconsin and Chicago Bootleggers
Hinted at Trial

Milwaukee (P)—The testimony of a nine-year-old boy used by federal prohibition agents to make a "buy" today was responsible for conviction of Mrs. Eleanor Paulino on charges of violating the prohibition law. The lad testified he purchased liquor from Mrs. Paulino after two prohibition agents gave him money and instructed him how to make the purchase. The agents said they "borrowed" the boy from probation officers after it was reported to them he had made several purchases from the woman. A jury convicted Mrs. Paulino. Sentence was deferred.

Testimony was heard in the conspiracy case of Henry Van Handle, Freedom township farmer, indicted by a "hookup" between Wisconsin and Chicago bootleggers, Van Handle, Joseph Saxe and Ralph Lyons pleaded guilty to the charge. The trial of Frank Lerona, arrested with them, was expected to be finished today.

Lyons testified he brought Lerona to Appleton from Chicago by a letter promising a job as a guard for alcohol-running trucks.

NEOLITHIC VILLAGE IS UNEARTHED NEAR COLOGNE BY EXPERTS

Cologne, Germany (P)—An entire Neolithic village, the outskirts of Cologne has been unearthed by the Wallraf-Richartz museum excavators. It is the first of its kind to be found in Germany.

The Neolithic objects found consists mainly of stone hand mills, flint knives, flint arrow heads and hand shaped pottery. That the pottery is purely Neolithic was determined by the fact it had been made before the potters wheel was known and shows characteristic signs, being burnt in the open fire.

It is believed these remains not only are the earliest in Germany but in the whole world.

London prehistoric experts have arrived in Cologne to investigate the discoveries which were made on the site of ancient ramparts now forming a public park. It is planned to reconstruct the entire village as far as possible.

The length of the village is 650 feet, but the breadth has not yet been fully determined.

Many months of detailed scientific work will be necessary by experts before the priceless objects found in the course of the excavation can be classified.

SIX ARE RESCUED FROM DISABLED FISHING BOAT

Scituate, Mass. (P)—Beating their way through a heavy sea in their surfboat, a crew of coast-guardsmen from the Scituate station rescued Captain Philippe Strang and his crew of five from the 70-foot fishing schooner Gyda early today. The Gyda went ashore on Callamore's ledge, two miles off Milford, during a fog and was in danger of breaking up.

ALL AGENCIES UNITE AGAINST CRIME GROUPS

Federal Forces Gradually
Strengthened to Check
Gangs' Activities

HELP CITY OFFICERS

"We Are Entirely Willing to Cooperate," Attorney
General Says

Washington (P)—Attorney General Mitchell announced today that virtually all agencies of the federal government were "fortifying their forces" in Chicago in an effort to break up gangster activities.

The justice department, the narcotics bureau, the internal revenue and immigration authorities have had forces working in Chicago since early in the summer.

Mitchell said these recently had been a "gradual strengthening of these forces, putting an increasing pressure upon gangster activities in that particular spot."

An agent of the department of justice has been delegated to act as an assistant to the United States attorney there, coordinating the activities of the various federal agencies.

"We intend to keep going indefinitely," the attorney general declared, "or at least until our aid is no longer needed."

He emphasized this was not the only such anti-gangster activity being carried on, saying it was "only one of our numerous efforts."

CHES CONVICTION

Mr. Mitchell said the conviction of a gangster in Chicago within the past few days "is a violation of the federal internal revenue act had been part of this effort. He explained the material upon which the case was based had been obtained through the efforts of the department of justice and the bureau of internal revenue.

The attorney general would not say how many departmental agents were in Chicago but said "more than one" agent from the office of Assistant Attorney General Youngquist, in charge of prohibition, was on the scene.

Indication was given that the aid now being lent by federal agencies was by request of Chicago authorities. The attorney general said "there is a question as to how far we should use federal laws in local situations, but we are entirely willing to cooperate with local authorities."

He said he had not heard that death threats had been made by gangsters against the producers of grape concentrates if their product was sold in Chicago. He said also he had personally looked through the files of Assistant Attorney General John Lord O'Brien to determine if a formal complaint had been filed by California grape growers and shippers asking protection against gangsters levying tribute on their product.

No formal complaint was found, but Mitchell said it was entirely possible on oral request had been submitted to O'Brien, who is out of the city. The entering of such a complaint recently became known here through authoritative sources.

CALL CONFERENCE

Chicago (P)—Strategists of the war against crime in the metropolitan area pooled their plans today at a general conference of federal, state and municipal law enforcement agencies with leaders of civic and private anti-crime bodies.

A great radio net that would bring into close communication police forces in a broad crescent shaped area around lower Lake Michigan, comprising 15 counties in Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan was promulgated.

Criminologists and lawyers, invited with the police chiefs to the conference at the University of Chicago, discussed recommendations for simplified judicial procedure.

John H. Alcock, acting commissioner of Chicago police, suggested abolition of the grand jury system and the tedious methods of bringing the criminal to justice.

"In a recent survey," he said, "Milwaukee appears as having had less robberies per capita than other large cities in the United States. Can it be because they have no grand jury system, and but two chiefs of police in the last 40 years?"

The short and uncertain tenure of police chiefs, he said, is one of the principal obstacles to law enforcement.

He hoped to see law enforcement officials cooperate in a movement that ultimately might have national scope.

From a policeman's standpoint, Alcock said, the ideal situation would comprise (1) a citizenry demanding strict enforcement of all law against all people; (2) thoroughly trained police force with promotion for merit and irremovability; (3) Prosecutors specially trained in trial of criminal cases, and (4) Judges who have served several years as prosecutors.

TWO SENTENCED TO DIE FOR CHICAGO SLAYING

Chicago (P)—A fate he once espoused—death in the electric chair with Frank H. Bell, a jury today had decreed for Richard Sullivan.

The jury required but 45 minutes late yesterday to reach its verdict of guilty in the trial of the pair, confessed robbers, for slaying Christ Patras, a cafe proprietor last June 16.

When Sullivan and Bell were arraigned for the slaying, Sullivan told Judge Joseph Sabath he'd "be glad to burn in the chair" if Bell died with him. His hatred for his erstwhile pal developed when Bell told a coroner's jury that Sullivan had killed Patras while trying to collect his share of "the payoff" for the slaying of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Tribune reporter, a week before.

Bell's story was discredited by the prosecution as a desperate attempt to escape the penalty for the slaying.

Find Three Bodies And Wreckage Of Mail Plane

Burbank, Calif. (P)—Three bodies and a pile of wreckage, found yesterday in the Tehachapi foothills north of here, today revealed the fate of a northbound Pacific coast airmail plane, caught in storm and fog early Tuesday.

Flavian A. Donaldson, veteran pilot who served in the Army Air corps during the World War, was at the controls Monday night when the Pacific air transport plane left here for Oakland. With him were George Rogers, mechanic, and Miss Jean Markow, who was celebrating her 18th birthday with a flight to Portland, Ore., to visit friends. The ship carried 319 pounds of mail.

Radio messages sent by Donaldson to the transport base here chronicled the flight until 2:07 a. m., Tuesday, when the plane was lost in a fog. At that time after a fight with wind, snow and fog, he reported he could gain no more than 9,000 feet altitude, barely 1,000 feet above the highest peaks there, and was circling helplessly over Tejon, where a small emergency landing field lay hidden by snow or fog.

For 48 hours the fate of the craft was unknown. Then Eddie M. Newton, cowboy, stumbled upon the broken mass.

The bodies of the girl and the mechanic were found near the spot where the plane first struck. Donaldson's body was encased in the twisted metal of the plane which had plowed to a halt 500 feet away on the gently sloping plateau. The mail was unharmed. There had been no fire.

Aviators found indications that ice possibly had formed on the wings of the plane, forcing it to earth. Others explained Donaldson, thinking he had reached Antelope valley, scarcely six miles from the scene of the crash, had spiraled down in an effort to get below the clouds. The plane struck with terrific force.

Donaldson was born at Milford, Iowa. All the victims lived in Los Angeles.

20 Dead, Scores Injured As Tornadoes Hit 3 States

SET PROPERTY LOSS AT ABOUT ONE MILLION

Rehabilitation Work Being Rushed to Assure Shelter During Winter

Kansas City — (P) — Tornadoes which swept through Oklahoma, Arkansas communities yesterday exacted a toll of 20 lives, injured scores, left many homeless and did property damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

At least 15 persons were killed and 45 injured seriously by the tornado which swept through Oklahoma, Arkansas communities yesterday exacted a toll of 20 lives, injured scores, left many homeless and did property damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

Four were killed at the Camel Creek school about four miles south of Bethany where the tornado first struck. The teacher and ten pupils were injured and the schoolhouse demolished.

D. D. Powell, city recorder of Ola, Ark., was killed and his wife seriously injured in a tornado which razed half the business buildings in that town of nearly 1,000 inhabitants.

Sixteen children and a teacher were injured by a tornado which demolished a rural school building near Victoria, Kas. Twenty buildings were demolished and a man seriously injured at Neal, Kas.

Rehabilitation occupied the attention of Bethany citizens today. A committee of insurance brokers, contractors and building and loan executives already was formulating plans to rebuild the eastern part of the town, whose population was approximately 2,000.

RESPOND TO APPEALS

Appeals by Gov. A. J. Holloway and the American Red Cross for $30,000 with which to carry on the work of rehabilitation were met promptly by donations which early today totaled more than $13,000, with many other subscriptions to be tabulated.

R. E. Mattison, Jr., member of the relief committee and vice president of the Oklahoma Contractors' association, said contractors would volunteer to rebuild the homes as soon as money for the materials alone was forthcoming, without considering profits.

The homeless persons were being cared for by half a dozen relief organizations and friends whose homes established the storm. A canteen was established at the Nazarene church by the Salvation army, and cots were set up in vacant buildings for those who could not find shelter elsewhere.

National guardsmen patrolled the storm swept area to prevent looting and keep the crowds of curious away. Much of the traffic on U. S. Highway 66, the main street of Bethany, was being rerouted.

Classes at Bethany schools were dismissed for the remainder of the week so the students could attend funerals of friends and relatives, and assist in clearing debris and rebuilding homes.

Governor Holloway, in his radio appeal for financial aid, said "it is by far the most serious need facing the state. Emergency funds of at least $30,000 must be provided at once to care for the disaster victims before cold weather sets in."

Dry League Undertakes New Campaign Aiming To Popularize Prohibition

Washington — (P) — City by city the Anti-Saloon league is undertaking the enlistment of high-standing business men in a campaign to popularize prohibition.

The objective, as described by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, is to tell by newspapers, magazines, radio and motion pictures what it considers the merits of prohibition, without overlooking a reason of unfavorable conditions in the saloon days.

The extent of this campaign was outlined by McBride last night soon after Prohibition Director Woodcock had made known his approval of the prosecution in St. Louis of a merchant who sold grape juice which turned into wine.

But Woodcock explicitly said the case was not a precedent for wholesale sale of grape juice. He said, in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Baltimore, there is a sale of an innocent beverage destined to acquire illegal potency remained very much up in the air.

The puzzle was enlivened by the recent reports that gangsters had threatened death to juice men if they invaded their beer baronies, and the apparently well authenticated information that the California grape growers appealed to the department of justice for protection under laws which forbid restraint of interstate commerce. No one in the department so far has confirmed this information, however.

Outlining the education campaign, McBride gave out a list of leading men who, he said, have agreed to take part in guiding the movement. Large groups have been formed, he said, in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Baltimore, three of the cities in the group generally considered outstandingly wet.

The work is under auspices of the league because, he said, it is by far the largest of the dry groups and "is non-sectarian, non-partisan, is a national organization and has an organization in every state."

McBride gave the league's present budget as approximately $1,500,000 a year.

McBride's list of men who have agreed to assist in the movement includes Hugh Strange, Neenah, Wis.

WOMAN LECTURER AND MOUNTAIN CLIMBER DIES

Minneapolis, Minn. — (P) — An illness contracted while traveling in Switzerland several years ago has caused the death of Dora Johnstone Best, noted lecturer, mountain climber and huntress.

Mrs. Best, 38, died yesterday at her home. She was a member of the Canadian Alpine club, the Japanese Alpine club, and the Swiss Alpine club. She was known throughout the United States as a conservationist and leading exponent of outdoor life.

In 1924 she set a record by climbing Mount Robson, highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, in 14 hours. The next year she and a companion, Audrey F. Shippman, successfully negotiated a dangerous 200 mile canoe trip around the big bend of the Columbia river.

During the last 12 years she divided her time between exploring expeditions from the Arctic circle to the tropics, and writing and lecturing.

Newberry, Mich. — (P) — Albert Byrns, 20, Belding, today nursed an injured hand. His gun discharged as he unloaded it while hunting, the bullet breaking the bones in his left hand.

NEW $5,000 GIFT TURNED OVER TO PAPER INSTITUTE

Receipt of Anonymous Award Announced This Week by Wriston

Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college and director of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, has announced an anonymous gift of $5,000 to the Institute library fund. Already $14,500 has been spent in creating a complete and comprehensive library and information service for research study by paper chemistry students and local manufacturers.

Miss Hjordis Roseth, librarian at the Institute, issues a monthly bulletin which carries among other features a list of books and articles related to paper chemistry, and translates for the library books and articles which are published in foreign languages. Miss Roseth has had special training in this type of library work and is able to speak and write seven different languages.

Anonymous individuals and groups donated $15,500 to the library fund last year and Dr. Clarence J. West, chairman of the committee on abstracts and bibliography, who is affiliated with the National Research Council, donated to the Institute $3,000 worth of scientific library material including several valuable collections of foreign and American periodicals on paper chemistry.

The removing of all covert and walls from the state and county trunk road systems were completed with the exception of the construction of necessary extensions.

A new corner was constructed on Highway 74, just west of Stephentown, to replace a dangerous curve which existed there previously. This work was done by county crews.

Another dangerous turn on County Trunk G, west of Seymour, was eliminated and approximately a quarter of a mile of new road built.

Maintenance of the state and county highway systems is just about completed. If weather conditions permit, however, the patrolmen may continue their work a day or two a week for the next month.

HUCKING BEFORE IOWA HIGH COURT

Appeal Cites Long List of Alleged Errors in Admitting Testimony

Des Moines, Iowa — (P) — Almost a year after his arrest, George E. Huckins of Cedar Rapids, alleged perpetrator of a gigantic scheme to defraud, came before the Iowa Supreme court today for a final judgment.

Huckins and his father, Elmer S. Huckins of Hancock, Wis., were convicted at Cedar Rapids on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses and were sentenced to seven years imprisonment.

Attorneys for the younger man brought his case before the higher court for an oral review today, 24 hours after they filed a written appeal in the father's behalf. The latter is expected to be heard at the January term.

The Huckinses were accused in connection with a business venture in which they accepted investments and for a time paid 26 and 52 per cent dividends. Testimony in their trials was to the effect that they represented they were operating a wholesale business in the sale of defective cigars.

The written appeal of Huckins' attorneys recited a long list of alleged technical errors in the admission of testimony in the state's behalf. It charged that the verdict was the result of "passion and prejudice" and claimed County Attorney Hendrickson went outside the record in making his closing arguments to the jury.

Council Ignores Petition Against Incinerator Site

NO ARGUMENT AS DOCUMENT IS SET ASIDE

Protest Signed by 104 Property Holders in Fifth, Second Wards

Serenity reigned supreme in the front ranks of the common council Wednesday night, though there were murmurings of battle behind the front lines. Occasional spurts gave warning of rising blood, but at no time did argument mount to the level it has maintained for the past several months.

With an abruptness that staved the voices of the protesters in the audience the council voted to relegate to the file the petition of Fifth and Second wards protesting the location of the incinerator on the stock farm grounds. The document signed by 104 property holders, stated that in spite of all that has been said concerning the cleanliness of an incinerator, the presence of such a plant would create an unpleasant and unsanitary condition in that locality.

While the petition took only a few minutes of the council's time, it produced a long and violent argument in the halls after the council adjourned.

The recommendation of the street and bridge committee that several streets, River-dr, Verbrick, Bouten, McKinley, W. Summer from Richmond to State, Fourth from Mason to Story, Clark from Wisconsin to Parkway-blvd, Beaver from Mason to Onondaga Circle, be paved in 1931, that S. Oneida-st. from E. McKinley to Calumet be resurfaced, and that Appleton—from Lawrence to the railroad tracks be widened was adopted, though the last section aroused a lukewarm discussion that came the closest to an argument all evening.

DEPENDS ON MONEY. Although the condition was not inserted in the formal report, it was the unofficial understanding that the adoption of the recommendation was dependent upon the amount of money provided in next year's budget for street paving.

The Appleton-st. widening was adopted by a six to five vote, with Alderman George T. Richard absent. Those voting against the proposition were Alderman Mike Steinhauser, George Packard, C. D. Thompson, W. VanDerHoven and Richard Groth. Alderman Steinhauser objected to the widening on the basis of former council actions. Alderman Thompson advised waiting until the budget for next year was prepared, and Alderman Packard felt that the matter should not be decided until property holders had again had a chance to express their opinion. Alderman Philip Vogt expressed the opinion the council had no right to honor one petition for paving and not another.

The ordinance providing for two hour parking on S. Appleton-st between College-ave and Lawrence-st, E. and W. Washington-st from N. Durkeest to N. Superior-st, and N. and S. Oneida-st. from Franklin-st to Lawrence-st, no parking on the north side of Midway between N. Appleton-st. and N. Oneida-st, Kimball-st, west of Allen-st, the south side of Kimball-st from Allen-st to Oak-st, and the south side of E. Lawrence-st between S. Oneida-st and S. Durkeest, and the one setting the rate tax at 10 cents a seat or a minimum of $50 were passed by the council.

TO PUBLISH ORDINANCE. The ordinance repealing the left turn on College-ave at Oneida-st was ordered published. The matter of establishing the setback line of N. Superior-st from the Brandt alley to the railroad crossing and N. Appleton-st from Washington-st to the railroad crossing, in order to allow for a wider street bed, was referred to the street and bridge committee. The recommendations of the United Commercial Travelers' association, on all night parking, which took up the majority of the council's time, were referred to the building and grounds committee, with the suggestion that the committee confer with the school board in the suggestion that the Lincoln school grounds be turned into a parking place between 5 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 o'clock in the morning. Charles G. Rumpf, who spoke for the traveling men's group suggested Market-st as a parking place for business men in the day time and traveling men in the evening, advised the changing of the 90-minute parking regulation for College-ave to 60 minutes, and suggested that the city adopt a system of guest cards. Chief George T. Richard objected to the guest card system on the grounds that it is a nuisance and not conducive to fair dealing.

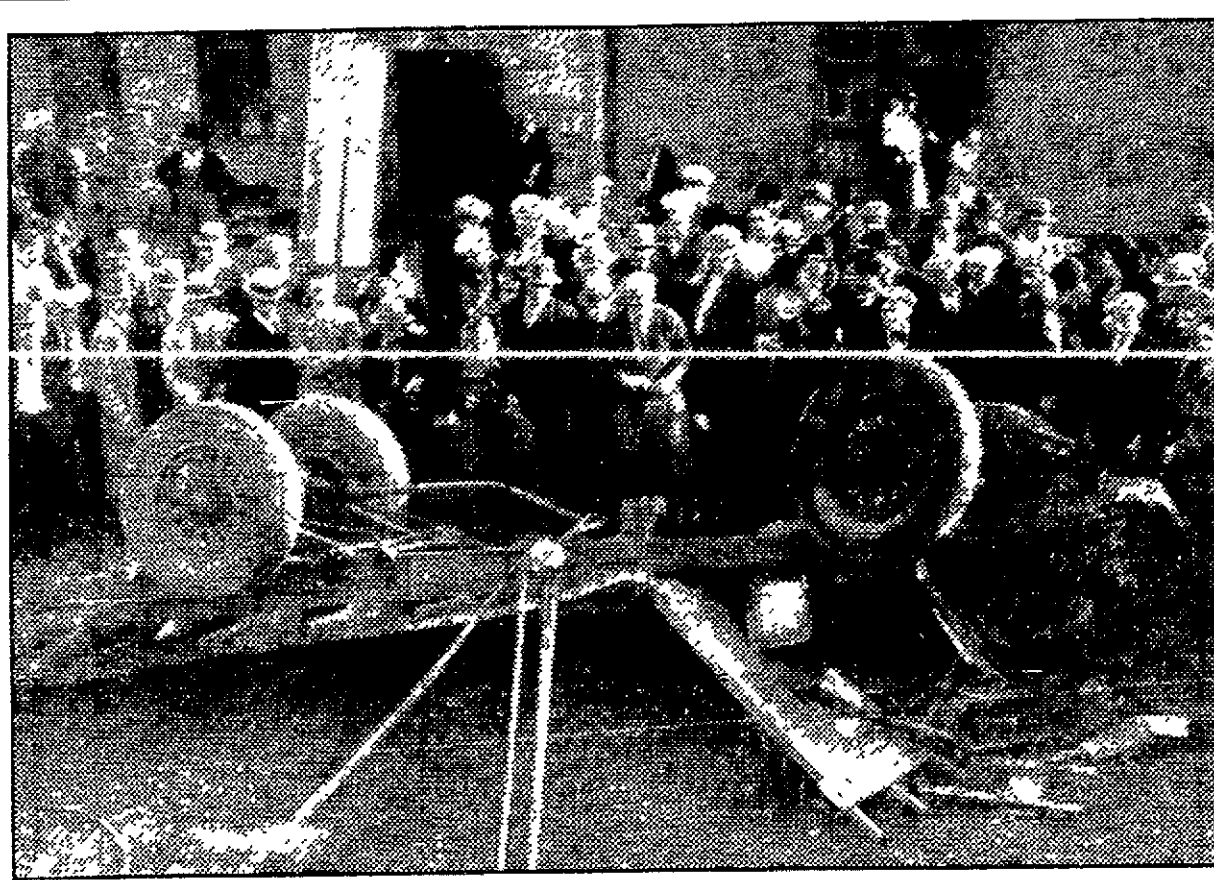

Mr. Rumpf stated that Appleton's all night parking ordinance is working a hardship on traveling men, and that after Jan. 1, when there is a possibility of the lot across from the fire station being turned into a bus station, there will practically be no available all night parking places.

MAY BUY FIREARMS. The purchase of one machine gun, two sawed off shotguns, one bullet proof windshield and a bullet-proof radiator protector for the police department, and the institution of compulsory target practice for policemen, recommended by the police and fire commission, was referred to the police and license committee. The commission's report pointed out that the psychological reaction resulting from the proposed equipment of the local police force would be of great assistance in staying off the prevailing crime wave.

The bid of the Outagamie-co bank on the $11,000 issue of six percent municipal paving bonds was accepted. The Appleton State bank also was a bidder.

The council approved the plan for extending Highway 41 from McCarthy-st to Deere on the west

Here's Truck After Being Hit By Train

MAN SCRATCHED AS TRAIN HITS TRUCK

Louis Zoelk Thrown Clear of Wreckage in Crash on Avenue

Driving his truck in front of Chicago and Northwestern Railway train No. 118, northbound from Chicago and due in Appleton about 2:20, Louis Zoelk, 535 W. Lawrence-st, an employee of the Bushey Transfer company, suffered a scratch on the left ear and a bruised hip and the truck was completely demolished. The accident occurred at the W. College-ave crossing.

Zoelk apparently was thrown clear of the engine and truck when the collision occurred and picked himself up a few feet from the wreckage. It is believed that he was knocked off the truck when the cab was demolished by the impact. He walked over to a doctor's office where he was examined, then he was taken home. Doctors were to examine him today to ascertain whether or there were any internal injuries.

The wigwag signals on the crossing were working when the crash occurred and other cars were stopped to wait for the train to pass. It is believed Zoelk overlooked the signals. He was going west on the avenue.

The truck was pushed off to the left side of the engine and was dragged about 400 feet, narrowly missing a woman with a baby buggy standing on the sidewalk waiting for the train to pass. The train was delayed about 30 minutes. H. O'Connor, Milwaukee, was conductor, August Schults, North Fond du Lac, engineer and Fred Saft, North Fond du Lac, fireman.

WINTER WEATHER DUE TO ARRIVE ON FRIDAY

The weatherman insist that winter weather is coming, although similar predictions meted out yesterday failed to materialize.

Rain turning to snow with considerably colder weather is his offering for Appleton and vicinity for the next 24 hours. Similar predictions have been circulated throughout the middlewest.

Unusually mild weather prevailed in this vicinity over Wednesday night and Thursday morning, the mercury traveling as high as 61 degrees above zero. At 6 o'clock Thursday morning it registered 55 degrees, while at noon it registered 60 degrees.

BIRTHS. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alex DeDecker, 1003 W. Packard-st, at St. Elizabeth hospital Wednesday.

side of the Fox river between the river and the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks, and adopted the resolution asking for the raising of the water level of the Fox river and Lake Winnebago from 15 to 21 1/2 inches.

The revised smoke ordinance was ordered published, the request of the Wisconsin Telephone company to install a number of poles in Appleton was granted, the clerk was instructed to again authorize the Chicago and Northwestern railroad to install wigwag signals at crossings in the city where they do not now exist, and the request of the retail merchants division of the chamber of commerce that business places be granted permission to decorate the fronts of their stores for the Christmas season was granted.

Mayor John Goodland Jr. reported that the poor commissioner and city nurse had been called into conference and that amicable relations had been restored in the office. He suggested also that council members confine themselves to the subject at hand in council meetings, and refrain from irrelevant arguments.

WEATHERMAN FOOLS DUCK HUNTERS WITH "WET" PREDICTION

Many Appleton nimrods who took for granted the weatherman's predictions of Wednesday, were sadly disappointed when they arose during the early hours Thursday morning to find the mercury at the 55 degree mark and the skies clear.

During the past two weeks there has been but one ideal day for duck hunting and on that particular day the ducks refused to fly, local nimrods say. Hunting has never been worse, and ducks seem to be getting scarcer as the years roll along, another hunter stated.

Hunters may take another chance on the weatherman's forecast of Thursday, which is about the same as yesterday's. Rain snow and colder weather is what nimrods are looking forward to, and if the position of the wind and the general atmospheric conditions are any indications, they will have ideal hunting Friday.

POLICE HERE WATCH FOR WAUSAU ROBBERS

Appleton police watched northern and northwestern entrances to the city last night after being warned that two men who held up a filling station at Wausau were believed headed in this direction.

Wausau authorities called police shortly after midnight and informed them of the robbery, reporting that the two men were driving a Studebaker Commander sedan. They drove up to the filling station where one man stayed in the car, the other entering the station armed with a revolver. The man who actually did the job was reported to be about 26 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, wore a long dark overcoat, and a red sweater underneath.

The license of the car was E-8648 and was issued to O. R. Short, 904 So. A-st, Wausau. It is believed the license or the car was stolen by the robbers.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR REXFORD MEMORIALS

The Eben E. Rexford Memorial committee met Wednesday night at the Masonic hall here and heard a report on the cost of the memorial erected at Shiocton last summer in memory of the Wisconsin poet and writer. Plans also were discussed for further memorials to Rexford, and a committee consisting of Dr. Henry M. Wriston, W. E. Smith and A. G. Meating was named to make further plans for memorials. They are to report at a later meeting. W. A. Olsen of Clintonville is chairman of the committee.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR OLDER "Y" MEMBERS

Members of Appleton Y. M. C. A. between the ages of 18 and 22 will meet at 3:30 tonight at the Y. M. C. A. to discuss plans for a program. C. O. Bailey and W. S. Ryan of the employed staff of the association will preside.

Among the projects the boys will consider are a basketball league, hand ball tournament, bowling league and hockey team.

In the past the program for youths of 18 to 22 has been neglected. Y. M. C. A. officers point out. Efforts now will be made to interest the boys in the various activities and get the groups organized.

CHICAGO BOYS ARE RELEASED BY POLICE

Three Chicago boys held by police while their records were investigated were released from custody Wednesday and instructed to head south. The mother of one of the boys asked they be released and authorities had no reason to hold the youths.

RESERVE OFFICERS TO MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

Appleton reserve officers taking a group school course under direction of Capt. A. P. Lagorio, will meet at 7:30 Friday evening at the armory. The officers received a new problem to solve two weeks ago and are to have it ready Friday night.

COUNTY COMMITTEE TO PROBE SALE OF TAX CERTIFICATES

Supervisors Want to Speed Up Delivery of Papers by Treasury

The finance committee was instructed by the county board this morning to investigate the sale of delinquent tax certificates by Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, with steps to speeding up the delivery of certificates so that the county would realize its money on the paper earlier than it has been in the past.

This matter was brought to the attention of the board by a letter from the firm of Riley, Penner and Benton, Milwaukee accountants, who audit the county books. The letter points out that it has been the practice of the treasurer to sell tax certificates in June, but that delivery of the certificates was not made in some cases until September, October or even November.

Because purchasers of the certificates will not pay for them until they are delivered the county loses the interest on the amount of the certificates from the time the certificate is sold until it is delivered and paid for. In addition the delinquent taxpayers often come in and pay their taxes, plus the 15 per cent penalty, and in some cases the purchasers of certificates have received the 15 per cent interest without ever actually having paid for the certificates, it was reported.

The auditors recommended several steps to speed up the preparation and delivery of certificates and urged the board to carefully consider some plans to remedy the system.

The finance committee was instructed to report some plan to the February session of the board. Supervisor Ryan said that she did not have the time to get out the certificates because she and her staff were forced to collect income taxes at the same time that the certificates were placed on sale. She also claimed that even if she were given more help there is no room in her office to work and that she could not permit her books to be taken from her office.

"The income tax collection has been in the hands of the treasurer for only two years," Supervisor Anton Jansen said, "and it is my belief that this same slackness existed before this. If this is so, what explanation has the treasurer to make to this fact?"

GREEN BAY MAN'S CAR STOLEN, RECOVERED

An Oldsmobile four-door sedan belonging to Louis Boes, 527 Wronan-st, Green Bay, was reported stolen Wednesday night and recovered by police about an hour and a half later. The car was parked at Franklin and Morrison-sts when stolen at 11 o'clock. At 12:30 Thursday morning Officers Van Roy and Thomas found the car at the corner of Morrison-st and Harris-st.

DEATHS

FRANK R. CAVANAUGH. The funeral of Frank R. Cavanaugh, who died enroute to Minneapolis Tuesday, will be held at 1:30 Friday afternoon from the residence at 733 W. Commercial-st, with services at 2 o'clock at Zion Lutheran church. The Rev. Theodore Marsh will be in charge of the service, and burial will be in Riverside cemetery. Mr. Cavanaugh died on the train on his way to Minneapolis to visit a sister, not as he stepped off the train, as the Associated Press report stated.

ELIZABETH ESTHER EMANS. Elizabeth Esther Emans, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Emans, New London, died Wednesday afternoon at the home of Leonard C. Wolf, 408 N. Division-st, Appleton, after a brief illness with pneumonia. Survivors are her parents, one sister, Alice Marie, and her grandmothers, Mrs. M. Emans, New London, and Mrs. M. Kitzinger, Appleton. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning from St. Joseph church with burial in St. Joseph cemetery.

BOARD VOTES TOMORROW ON RESORT LAWS

Supervisors Spend All Morning Discussing Proposed Ordinance

Lengthy discussions on the proposed county ordinance to regulate dance halls and road houses left the county board in the same position today as it was yesterday, except that the supervisors are committed to a special session Friday afternoon when they expect to consider the ordinance section by section.

There has been no definite announcement of opposition, but a bloc has managed so far to prevent any definite action on the matter. An attempt was made by Supervisors Anton Jansen and A. W. Laabs to have the ordinance laid over until the February session. Their pleas were that there were some sections of the ordinance which needed more investigation and that the only way to arrange for this was to lay the matter over.

They failed in their efforts, however, when several supervisors demanded immediate action. The matter was finally settled by arranging for a special session of the board Friday afternoon, when consideration of the ordinance will be the only business.

Three more letters, praising Sheriff Lappen's board to adopt it, were received by the board this morning. They were from the Rev. H. E. Peabody, pastor of First Congregational church, Appleton; George F. Werner, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association; and John Trautman, a member of the Appleton school board.

POWERS OBJECTS. Supervisor Powers attempted to block the acceptance of these communications hinting that the "Com-munications of Fifteen" was behind them. He withdrew his motion, however, when other board members pointed out that the letters were from responsible citizens, and outstanding community leaders who had a right to express their views to the board. Mr. Powers said he only objected because he didn't know how many similar communications there and if there were any more he intended to object to them.

Supervisor T. H. Ryan, Beck, Knapstein, Krueger and others urged immediate action on the ordinance. They pointed out the sheriff is ready and willing to enforce the matter and there is no need for further investigation.

"The ordinance discriminates against small dance hall operators," Supervisor Laabs said. "They cannot afford to pay the high license fee and the cost of a dance supervisor and I believe that portion of the ordinance should receive further investigation."

There were several proprietors of large dance halls present, by all of them admitted the ordinance is fair and would tend to help their business rather than injure it. They requested, however, that more time be given to investigate.

HE BLAMES TOWNS

Supervisor John Grafmeier, town of Buchanan, pointed out that if towns are afflicted with roadhouses it was their own fault. He said his town had eliminated all roadhouses by consistently maintaining a watch over them and enforcing regulations. He said this watchfulness would drive the roadhouses out of any territory.

The success of supervised dances depends entirely on getting the right kind of dance hall inspectors, according to Supervisors M. Ryan, Krueger and Sandhofer. They cited instances to show that when dances are properly supervised there never is any trouble.

"One dance hall proprietor in my town claimed that the reason his dances were not a success was because they are not tough enough," said Supervisor Beck. "It seems the young people of today want to go only to the 'tough' places."

Supervisor Powers claimed Mr. Beck was wrong. He said a survey would reveal that most of the patronage of the roadhouses consisted of people in the "foolish forties and fifties." Young people do not have enough money to spend in these places, he claimed.

Under the proposed ordinance a dance committee consisting of the sheriff, district attorney and three supervisors would be organized.

WOULD CHANGE LICENSE

A license fee of $25 per year would be charged against every dance hall. In addition each hall would be forced to give five days notice of every dance and a supervisor would be assigned to inspect the dance for which service the dance hall proprietor would pay $5.

If a dance hall license was revoked it would be impossible to have it reinstated for a year after the revocation.

It would be illegal to sell intoxicating liquors in the dance hall. Girls and boys under 16 years of age could not attend the dances unless accompanied by a guardian.

All dance halls and roadhouses would have to close from 12:30 to 6 a. m.

The law would be effective only in those districts which did not have a local ordinance.

The board voted to have the highway commissioner and highway committee attend the annual road school in 1931 with their expenses paid.

WILL COMPLETE GARAGE

The board voted $5,300 to complete the addition to the county garage. This includes enough for an electric crane and to pay the deficit now existing in this fund. The highway committee also has asked $1,500 more for a concrete floor in the garage but the county board cut this item out, holding that the floor should be permitted to settle more before the floor was put in.

Without any comment the board also approved a resolution from the highway committee, petitioning the state highway department to reroute Highway 41 from McCarthy's crossing north of Kaukauna, to a point in the town of Lawrence, Brown-co.

The rerouting would take the road through the village of Wrightstown and would eliminate several dangerous grade crossings. The master was brought to the attention of the board when a petition, asking the board's cooperation in securing the rerouting of the road, was presented from 250 property owners along the proposed route.

On motion of P. M. Garvey, supervisor from the town of Oneida, the board adopted a petition asking Congress to appropriate $5,000 for the relief of 100 destitute Oneida Indians in the town of Oneida. Mr. Garvey's resolution pointed out that his town was facing depletion of its methods of inquiry from the punishment of delinquency to the cause of delinquency." He added that "it is not the delinquent child that is at the bar of judgment, but society itself."

Industry must not rob our children of their rightful heritage, the president said, asserting that "any laborer who stunts growth, either physical or mental, that limits education, that deprives children of the right of comradeship, of joy and play, is sapping the next generation."

"In the last half a century we have herded 50,000,000 more human beings into towns and cities where the whole setting is new to the race," the president said. "We have created highly congested areas with a thousand changes resulting in the swift transition from a rural and agrarian people to an urban, industrial nation. Perhaps the widest range of difficulties with which we are dealing in the betterment of children grows out of their crowding into cities."

"Problems of sanitation and public health loom in every direction. Delinquency increases with congestion. Overcrowding produces disease and contagion. The child's natural play place is taken from him. His mind is stunted by the lack of imaginative surroundings and lack of contact with the fields, streams, trees, and birds. Home life becomes more difficult. Cheerless homes produce morbid minds. Our growth of town life unendingly imposes such problems as milk and food supplies, for we have shifted these children from a diet of ten thousand years standing."

"Nor is the problem one solely of the city child. We have grave responsibilities to the rural child. Adequate expert service should be as available to him from maternity to maturity."

ROAD PROGRAM

Among the items in the road program are: $45,234.53 for improvement of the county trunk system; $50,000 for grading, graveling and building a new bridge on Highway 70; $50,000 for paving Highway 55 from the Calumet-co line toward Kaukauna; $13,000 for completing the improvement of Highway 26 in the village of Hortonville; $1,500 for improving Highway 95 on the Outagamie and Brown-co lines; $5,000 for the improvement of Highway 29; $58,999.34 to be held in reserve for federal aid; $57,914.03 for maintenance of the state highway system; $9,300 for county and town aid projects, $30,000 for the Leeman bridge on County Trunk F in town of Malin; $20,000 for the improvement of N. South River-st in Appleton; $8,000 for building two bridges on County Trunk N in the town of Buchanan; $6,000 for completing extensions of culverts where endwalls have been removed; $69,948.70 for maintenance of county highways; $30,000 for the general garage funds; and separate bequests for bridges on town roads.

Among the county and town aid appropriations were: $1,000 for the town of Bovina; $2,000 for the town of Buchanan; $2,000 for the town of Center; $3,000 for the town of Deer Creek; $300 for the town of Freedom; $500 for the town of Liberty; and $1,000 for the town of Osborn.

County and town aid bridges are to be constructed as follows: Kempf bridge, town of Maple Creek, $2,117.16; Town Line bridge, town of Cicero, $885.97; Joosten bridge, town of Vandenberg, $479.52; Sawall bridge, town of Dale, $222.55; Vandenberg bridge, town of Freedom, $400; Elsner bridge town of Hortonville, $375.

DIRECTOR OF RADIO STATION WHBY SEES RADIO COMMISSION

DePere Making Application for Improved Broadcasting Facilities

De Pere—The Rev. James Wagner, director of the St. Norbert college radio station, WHBY, has gone to Washington to attend a hearing before the Federal Radio commission on the application of Wisconsin radio stations for improved facilities for broadcasting.

The Wisconsin stations, 15 in number, are seeking more power and better channel assignments in an effort to serve the territory which the owners consider they are not fully entitled to serve. Only four of the 15 stations operate on 1,000 watts, the others are limited to 100 watts, or slightly higher power in a few cases.

This case, involving the Wisconsin stations as a statewide matter, has nothing to do with an effort being made by station WHBY for increased power, but Father Wagner will confer with the Federal Radio commission on the college station's case while in Washington. The local station is seeking a minimum power of 1,000 watts and a change of frequency from 12,900 kilocycles to 1200 kilocycles. The station's power now is limited to 100 watts.

ADD 59 MORE VOLUMES TO PAPER INSTITUTE

Fifty-nine books have been added to the library of the Institute of Paper Chemistry at Lawrence college during the past month, according to the Institute Bulletin recently published. The new titles bring the total number of bound volumes to more than 1,000.

From the newest of atlases to the latest volume on wood technology, the Institute library has included many which continue to bring the collection into a position of greater value as a research source. Bjordest Roseth, librarian, announces a library equipment in books and periodicals, the latter totaling more than eight, which gives it an enviable position among technical libraries in the United States for materials in pulp and paper chemistry. Announced with the new volumes is a list of surveys of the leading periodical articles for the months of September and October.

The Institute Bulletin, published twelve times a year, will include among other things a regular series of library notes designed to acquaint industry and students of the pulp and paper field with the literature available at the Institute library.

College Infirmary Well Equipped For Students

The Lawrence College Infirmary, located at the east end of Lawrence street, next to Ormsby hall, is fully equipped to give Lawrence students all ordinary medical attention. At the beginning of each school year the incoming class is thoroughly examined and a record made of each individual's history. If any defect or minor ailment is discovered immediate treatment is given to correct it.

Two nurses are on duty at the infirmary 24 hours a day and will take care of any illness except contagious diseases. The student is required to stay at the infirmary during the period of illness and is given every possible aid for recovery. Consultation and minor treatment without any extra cost is made by the college physician, Dr. R. V. Landis, during his regular infirmary hours. However, he is subject to calls at any time, the first of which is made without charge.

MENDATIONS

Convinced by a year's experience of the futility of the sheriff's office, as presently manned and equipped, to be a potent factor in law enforcement in Outagamie county, Sheriff John Lappen has told the county board what he thinks is necessary in the way of equipment and man power to make his department effective.

Sheriff Lappen's conception of his office as an instrument for the enforcement of law rather than a sort of glorified messenger for the other officers of the county is refreshing, and while this conception might be something of a shock to the county board it is endorsed by the people of the county.

Mr. Lappen's conclusions as to the inadequacy of his department with its meagre equipment to properly police an area as large as Outagamie county must be accepted by everyone who has given even superficial thought to this problem. If he were content merely to be a process server and a caretaker for prisoners at the county jail, he might get along well with the provisions that have been made for him, but if he attempts to discharge the duties which the people have a right to expect of him, he is by no means properly equipped.

Automobiles, good roads and other modern methods and appliances have given every advantage to those with criminal intent. The lawbreakers have adopted all these modern means while the sheriff's office is expected to cope with them with the same personnel and the same equipment that served the sheriff of two decades ago. The crook has gone modern but the sheriff's department still lives in the Dark Ages.

The county board no doubt will be guided in its action on Sheriff Lappen's recommendations by its conceptions of the sheriff's duty. If it is agreed that the sheriff is elected for the purpose of protecting life and property in the county it must concur in the argument that he is inadequately equipped for his work. If it is willing that the sheriff continue in the rut of process server and messenger boy, his recommendations will receive slight consideration.

It will not be at all surprising if there will be an immediate objection on the part of some of the supervisors to the increased expense an enlarged sheriff's department will involve. It surely will cost more to operate the department properly manned than it costs now but the extra money will be more than repaid in the additional service and protection afforded the citizens of the county. While the practice of economy is a virtue that might well be cultivated by our governing bodies it must not be permitted to become parsimony when really necessary services of projects are involved. Adequate policing, we believe, fits into this category.

WHAT MAKES SUCCESS

Julius Rosenwald, the Chicago merchant and philanthropist, is a modest man. He tells an interviewer that his business success has been about 10 per cent work, with maybe a little common sense mixed in, and the other 90 per cent has been luck. On further reflection he raises the luck factor to 95 per cent.

This is refreshing, when you consider how many wealthy men explain their success, at least by implication, as the fruit of heroic labor, virtue and wisdom. Mr. Rosenwald does not seem to feel either that wisdom has made him rich or that his riches have made him wise. With about $300,000,000 he is not interested in giving other people advice. All he gives is money.

Wherefore others are all the more inclined to discredit his account of his life work. For once, at least, this multi-millionaire is caught in a gross exaggeration. Luck is probably a large factor in the life of any eminently successful person—but not 95 per cent.

WAR DEBTS AND TAXES

When the people and the corporations in the country make money the government is prosperous because income taxes form a substantial part of the federal government's means of paying its way. Of course when the prosperity of men and concerns is reduced the amount paid to the federal government is reduced in corresponding manner. Under present conditions federal treasury receipts have fallen off materially.

As outlined in a recent article by David Lawrence, the question presented to the authorities at Washington is: Shall the drastic reduction of our wartime indebtedness be continued, in which case income taxes must be raised, or would it be a better policy to discontinue temporarily the large annual reduction in this debt and permit taxes to stay where they are?

Since the war, under the capable direction of Secretary Mellon, the war debt has been reduced over a third, which means in figures a liquidation of about ten billions. The remainder is small when compared to the resources of the country and its wealth. To further burden industry by raising its income taxes at a time that must be recognized as delicate might not result in good to the country. When companies are struggling with their present load prudence suggests the inadvisability of adding to their burdens.

At present corporations pay an income tax of 11 per cent to the federal government. But this is not all. In a great many states, such as Wisconsin, they pay an additional tax of about 6 per cent to the state. Nor is this all. They must pay in addition their real estate and personal property taxes. The total, depending upon the size of their plants and the amount invested in equipment, often runs from 20 to 25 per cent of their income and makes a substantial drain upon their exchequer.

Since the government has done so well in the reduction of the war indebtedness it would seem to be a more cautious policy to suspend further reduction in that regard until the wheels of industry start going in what we like to call their natural rhythm. Such a policy, if comparisons are in order, would still leave the United States not only far in advance of the other nations of the world in the modesty of its per capita indebtedness, but still also far advanced in the speed with which national obligations arising from the war are being erased. It would also indicate a policy of earnest helpfulness on the part of the government tending to inspire industrial leaders with confidence whereas a policy which would increase their burdens at this time or tend to show indifference to their many and complex problems might result in just the opposite. When the road is rough and men are weary the least encouragement that can be given is not to add to the difficulties of the way.

ROYAL JAIL DELIVERIES

One of the greatest of modern pagans, but pagan in many details, was the coronation of Abyssinia's new emperor who was dubbed, among many other things, "Lord King of Kings, Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, the Elect of God and Light of the World." Of course a man could not accept such a magnificent title without responding in some magnificent manner, so this "Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah" touched the prison gates and they opened to 2,000 prisoners who quickly scurried off in every direction.

From Abyssinia turn to Bulgaria. King Boris brought home the Italian princess as his bride amid celebrations such as shaly Bulgaria had never seen. Overcome by the love and fealty of his people he also turned the prison doors ajar and "granted amnesty" to 1500 prisoners.

This sort of "magnificence" has been the practice of monarchs for centuries but is not entirely unknown in our own country. When Ma Ferguson was governor of Texas she set a record for American jail deliveries. Nor need we leave Wisconsin to have brought to mind a similar gesture by one of its governors and not so many years ago.

A cougar will kill about 100 deer or elk annually.

The Khyber Pass, in Afghanistan, is the principal pass into that country from India. It is about 30 miles long.

A man in Woolwich, England has built himself a coffin and sleeps in it every night "to get used to the feel of it," he says.

Manhattan Glimpses

New York—Notes from a convenient cuff:
The warmest bit of chitter-chatter of the moment concerns a certain character in Mary Borden's new novel, "A Woman With White Eyes." The character is plainly drawn so that there is no mistaking it.

For years she kept "open house" in Paris, dwelling with another American woman who later married into European royalty. Her hospitality, not so many years back, was almost a legend. She has for years been identified with artistic and literary matters.

And the portrait drawn of her has crept from tea-table conversation into the society columns where one of the frankest refers to it as "vicious libel"—or something of that kind. The Mary Borden, who thus finds her book creating wide social whispering, is a former Chicagoan who became identified with war-time work, married the British General Spears and became a figure in fashionable London and Paris life. Her husband was elected to Parliament as conservative member from Carlisle and she was one of his leading campaign figures.

That personal record of General Pershing that has caused no end of bidding is said to have finally brought $250,000, for book rights, serial rights and all the rest—which is something of a record. And Helen Kane, after all that court ruction, is seen about these nights with her young husband, who seemed to have been left miles behind. . . . Boop-de-o-doo!

Randolph Churchill, son of the celebrated Winston, has been visiting the Harlem spots. . . . They do say that Libby Holman, New York's favorite blues warbler, who hails from Cincinnati, will marry Chilton Webb, the sleek dancer, who was her partner in the "Moaning Low" number.

Poor societies are thriving again in Greenwich Village. So expect snow any day. The garment-makers are picking out warm places to spend the evening without paying rent. . . . The Duncan Sisters, first of the "sweet-singing" sister acts—and they really are sisters—have separated after all these years. The reason, they say, is that Vivian, who became Mrs. Nils Asther, expects to be a mamma soon and will take a trip to Europe. . . . This team started, by the way, at a small sum and worked to $4,000 a week and better.

The new telegraph-theater arrangement for distributing Broadway theater tickets is getting a big response from out-of-town points. . . . One theater reports a wire arrangement from Missouri for a Thanksgiving night party. A couple have wired from Kansas and any number have come in from closer points. In case you haven't heard about it, the idea is that Postal has arranged to act as a theatrical ticket distributing point, taking and delivering orders either at the branch offices or by wire. . . . Sounds like a smart idea at least. . . . Anything to break up the old scalper system, which was one of the theater's major annoyances.

LAGERLOF'S BIRTH

On Nov. 20, 1858, Selma Lagerlof, eminent Swedish writer, was born at Värmland, Sweden, the daughter of a Swedish army officer. While teacher at a high school for girls, she wrote her first book, "Gosta Berling." Coming at a time when Sweden was weary of the pessimistic realism which had been the vogue, this book was "a refreshing breath of romance" and brought the author quick success.

She wrote several books on her travels through Europe and in 1902 was commissioned by the National Teachers' Association of Sweden to write a school textbook of the geographical peculiarities, and of the flora and fauna of the various provinces of the country.

In 1909 the author was awarded the Nobel prize for literature and five years later was elected a member of the Swedish Academy, being the first woman to have received this honor. Her books have been translated into many languages.

Mr. B. writes: My daughter is absolutely healthy except for occasional attacks of croup, for which I cannot account, as her diet and routine are as near right as we can make them.

She seems to cut a tooth soon after each attack, and our family doctor insists that is what causes the croup.

Is that possible? I have been rather skeptical. (Mrs. R. McL., R. N.)

A REVIEW OF THE VERRUCA SITUATION.

Verruca is not a place in South America and I am not Kallenborn—who, by the way, is for me the hardest of all radio features to turn off—but the verruca outbreak is sufficiently serious, I judge from the letters, to merit consideration here.

I confess it is a weak beginning to use the term verrucosis when I mean warts, but if we frankly entitled this something about warts a lot of readers would not read it at all.

A Birmingham reader tells of an old gentleman who has a great reputation for dispelling warts. The old gentleman simply rubs the warts gently with his fingers for a moment, and they generally disappear within 15 days.

Here is another: a lot of people have assured me that warts invariably disappear if you just gently rub them with castor oil from time to time.

Here is another: Where there are numerous warts in a group, they will disappear, in many cases, if you paint the warts and intervening skin with tincture of iodine—just one coat, not often than once in five or seven days, for perhaps three or four times.

A very good remedy for single warts is the familiar corn remedy—paint the corn, wart or callus each evening with a solution of 30 grains of salicylic acid in half an ounce of flexible collodion. This should cause the wart to soften and come away after a week or ten days.

I warn persons who have warts or anything resembling a wart on the face, neck or head, not to trifle with any such experiment. The only safe or satisfactory course for one with a wart above the shoulders is to consult a physician or surgeon for proper treatment.

The nature or cause of warts is not clearly known. There is some reason to assume that a wart is due to a specific bacterial infection of the skin.

Of course toads have nothing to do with them. Neither has Grandma's salt pork, or a graveyard at midnight.

Warts come and go, and that being so, it is not strange that people harbor so many odd notions about the cause or cure of warts.

The practice of burning out warts with caustics or with acids is crude, painful and often disappointing. Much simpler, cleaner and more comfortable to let your doctor shoot a mite of local anesthetic under the wart and then neatly excise it and seal the wedge shaped opening in the skin with collodion or other protective dressing until healing is complete.

Diathermy (electro-coagulation, electro-desiccation), carbon dioxide, radium, X-ray, fulguration (electric sparking), are all satisfactory in suitable cases. The physician's judgment is best, if it is desirable to avoid any scar formation.

An old and satisfactory remedy for groups or masses of warts on the hands, is Vlemmeck's solution—a solution of lime and sulphur.

Lime (unsleaked) . . . 2 ounces
Sublimed sulphur . . . 1 ounce
Distilled water . . . 10 ounces
Boil down to six ounces and filter.

Apply this lotion twice a day, for several days, or until a mild irritation of the skin develops. Then wait a week or longer; if the warts persist, resume the use of the lotion for several more days.

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—When a justice of the supreme court appeared on the bench at the opening of the fall term wearing a bright-hued tie, and later called on President Hoover so clad, wags-around the capital had a good time.

The idea of a member of that tribunal doing anything so daring intrigued them immensely. And no opportunity was lost to crack wise about it.

As a matter of fact, a red tie in the supreme court is nothing so unusual. Once upon a time, yes, but not now. Formality in dress is passing rapidly. The dignified black is no longer required.

Of course, the justices as a rule wear dark clothes. And there is a notable tendency among lawyers of experience never to appear for argument except in the black cutaway, with trousers of striped dark gray, the necessary dark neckwear and tail white collar.

But it is a matter of choice.

MATTER OF COURTESY.

The court functionaries—bailiff, marshal, clerk, crier and the others—are formally garbed. And the unwary visitor who dares hang an overcoat over the rail of a vacant seat in front of him will hear quickly the voice of authority muttering a demand that he remove it.

The lawyers pleading before the court are as often as not dressed in a business suit. It is a matter of courtesy and a sense of the fitness of things rather than the rule, and the court has come to excuse failure to dress the part of attorneys making their first appearance before it.

Why, at one time an eccentric, who never had worn a collar or tie, almost succeeded in pleading a case so attired. However, he was induced by court attaches to break a life-long habit prior to entering the chamber.

ONCE REQUIRED

But there was a time when formal attire was absolutely required. It was only a short while ago that Chief Justice Taft curtly rebuked one man, and ordered him to stand aside because he came before the court in a sack suit, without a vest and with coat open, displaying an expanse of expensive shirt fronting.

In those days, an emergency wardrobe was kept on hand at the court. A medium-sized tail coat—which seemed to fit everyone—was available to any lawyer who came unwittily unprepared. Collars of assorted sizes and a black tie or two made up the equipment stored in a closet in the clerk's office.

This coat, a "garment antique and rusty," with braided edges and an impressive flare below the waist, figured in many an imposing argument before that grave and revered tribunal. It was worn by many a lawyer who later became wealthy and famous.

But its day has passed. The last heard of the coat was that it draped the form of a dark-hued citizen of Washington whenever he appeared on ceremonial occasions.

Seen And Heard
In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—If Great Neckers see a very attractive woman riding a bicycle around their Long Island town, she is pretty sure to be Jane Cowell. Cycling is Miss Cowell's favorite diversion. Last summer she rode her wheel all over England.

Just now she is playing in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" and thinking about alternating the role of Viola with several others in new plays that have been acquired for the actress.

PLAYWRIGHT, TOO

"Who's Who in the Theater" says Miss Cowell was born in Boston, Dec. 14, 1884, but her friends say that's a mistake—that she is still in her thirties.

She is a playwright, too, having written parts of "Lilac Time," "Smilin' Through," "Information, Please" and "Jealous Moon," in which she played. She began writing as a girl, composing short stories to help pay her mother's doctor bills.

A friend of the family knew Belasco's stage manager and gave Jane a letter of introduction to the producer. Her first part was in "The Rose of the Rancho." She spoke six lines. She was first featured in "The Gambler" and first starred in "Within the Law."

She also is a musician, with long training on the piano. Furthermore, she always lights her own plays.

Bad manners in the audience pain her. That, she thinks, is what's wrong with the theater. She has steadfastly refused to appear in talkies. Once she said: "The theater will pass out of existence as sure as the talking pictures come in, unless there is a renaissance of interest in the personal, human equation."

She reads serious books, and not much fiction. Her library is large. The peak of her ambition was to play "Juliet." When she did, the critics cheered her. At the close of her "Juliet" season, the audience threw flowers under her feet as she left the theater. Afterward she wept into a dish of ice cream.

Although her beauty is of the "tragic" type, she sparkles offstage. She has hundreds of fans among boarding school girls. From these she receives as many as 500 letters a week.

Otis Skinner once called her "the dramatic Joan of Arc."

Besides bicycling, she rides horseback—anytime she can find time and the horse.

IMPERMANENT CITY

In 84 years London Terrace, "the largest apartment house in the world," which covers an entire block, will have passed its period of usefulness and will be ready for replacement, its builder, Henry Mandel, estimates. And it cost $20,000,000!

Structurally, modern steel and brick structures would last many years—even centuries, builders believe. But land values increase so enormously that by 2013 replacement by modern buildings will be essential in this one case.

The Down Town Store
"Appleton's Largest Drug Store"

Located at 114 West College Avenue in the center of Appleton's busiest business block, this store justly holds the position of the leading Drug Store of the community. Here you will find everything that is carried in the modern city drug store. Outstanding, perhaps, is the Toilet Goods Section which is second to none in Wisconsin.

THE 3 SCHLINTZ STORES CELEBRATE THEIR 20TH ANNIVERSARY

Friday & Saturday

Twenty years ago this month Schlitz Bros. opened their first drug store on the corner of College Avenue and Oneida St. The force in addition to themselves was one boy. Today in the three Schlitz stores 25 people are given full time employment — six of them are State Licensed Pharmacists for the filling of Prescriptions.

Schlitz Bros. Drug Stores are strictly local institutions. The two buildings in which the Appleton Stores are located, are owned by them. This alone marks them as sound local business houses and enables keeping down costs and makes low selling prices possible.

The West Side Store
"The Store of Youth"

Rebuilt after the first of last January, this store on the Corner of State Street and College Avenue serves the rapidly growing West Side of Appleton — and the West Side is proud of this fine new store. The "Fountain of Youth" originated at this store is an attraction to folks from many miles and has already served as the pattern for the modern soda fountain in many cities.

The Menasha - Neenah Store. Above—

This cheerful store is the favorite shopping place of many folks in Menasha and Neenah. Being in the Bin Theatre Building it is a favorite dropping in place for sodas and lunches before and after the Theatre. This store is first in binging of new merchandise and new ideas to Menasha and Neenah folks.

Success Due Largely to Loyal Staff

Many of the folks in the Schlitz Stores have, so to speak, grown up with the business. All of them are Appleton Home Folks. Margaret M. Stier started as a clerk in 1917 and now is assistant manager of the West Side Store. J. Carl Hassman started as prescription clerk in 1918 and now is assistant manager of the Down Town Store. Alvin W. Wassman started as Assistant Pharmacist in 1924 and now is manager of the Menasha-Neenah Store. To them is due much of the credit of the success and growth of the Schlitz Drug Stores.

Our Children

HOMEWORK
Should a child have homework? How much? What kind?
It all depends upon the child and his school. Children below the fourth grade, should not, if their school day has been well used need any homework. They need rest from school, a chance to free their bodies of the cramping influence of the benches and the seat work.
From the fourth year on homework becomes a matter for careful study on the part of the school authorities. Some children do enough work on the course of study prescribed by the school while they are in the building. They are usually bright children who could profit by taking extra work outside school—music, art, hand work, whatever hobby is dearest.

Some children need a little extra touch on the day's work. They have the point but a little dwelling on it will fasten it so that it will remain at call. These are the good students who require a little more time than can be afforded them in the usual school.
The dull pupil rarely benefits by home work. His mind is already fatigued by application to study in school hours. It is not attention or application that he lacks but ability and all the home study one could assign would never supply that. What the dull child needs is another mode of approach, not drill.
Now home has become, in many places, a poor place for home study. This is especially true in cities where room is scarce and noise is perpetual. Yet school boys and girls, particularly as they grow older and mount to the upper grades and into high school and college, need a quiet place and a studious atmosphere if they are to do any worth while work. School, in such places, must become the study place.
We can teach a child certain facts that are useful tools. After that the child must turn to and recreate these facts by adding something from within himself to them. This means meditation, concentrated effort, personal application. No teacher, no school can do this for him. It is a phase and a highly important phase of his mental, spiritual, material growth.
We must give the children the tools of learning. We must furnish them with the means of making good use of them. We must teach them how to search with these tools, how to discover new truth, how to apply old truth. Homework aims at the beginnings of this process. It gradually gathers power and point and purpose as the pupil becomes a student in the upper schools. From the familiar lesson reviewed at home to the laboratory search for new facts seems a long step but they are steps on the same road.
Because the purpose of homework is creative work we must consider well what we are doing in making home assignments. They must lead the child to wish to study, then to broaden his study, then to point it to high purpose. Remember that the children of men have a prolonged infancy and do not try to curtail it by forcing the end into the beginning. Go slowly, thoughtfully, wisely at this matter of homework. My Neighbor Says--

Pans for butterless cake such as sponge or angel cake, should never be oiled, floured or lined with paper.

If your doughnuts soak fat try putting one tablespoon of vinegar into the batter when mixing it.

Use lukewarm water and borax to wash out your refrigerator. This keeps it sweet and clean; also a piece of charcoal kept on one of the shelves will absorb all odors.

After using the stove, wipe the top of it with a crumpled newspaper. It will save time spent in blacking it.

When boiling a pudding place a piece of grease-proof paper between the pudding and the cloth. This will prevent the goodness boiling out of the pudding and save labor when washing the cloth.

Fish and sausages should always be rolled in flour before frying. It improves the flavor and prevents their bursting open.

REFUSE TO ACT UPON SOVIET ARMS PROGRAM

Geneva.—(AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, Russian delegate to the preparatory disarmament meetings, Wednesday moved to reduce maximum tonnage of capital ships to 10,000 tons with 12-inch guns. The commission, however, declined to enter into the merits of the question.
The draft under consideration contains the maximum figures of the Washington treaty—35,000 tons with 16-inch guns—as submitted by the great naval powers.
The Soviets, said Litvinoff, wished to do away with arms of offensive nations, regarding present day battleships as belonging to this class.
Lord Cecil said that the British government favored such a move as Litvinoff suggested but felt that the preparatory commission was not competent to fix the figures.

WE WOMEN

By Betty Brainerd CHASING MIRAGES

"Dear Betty Brainerd: I am 21—a college graduate—popular among both boys and girls and have a lovely home with a real mother and father. But I'm not happy."

"Two weeks ago I went to a country hotel, where I knew no one, just for a thrill. I went unattended because my mother trusts me."

"I soon became acquainted with an extraordinarily nice fellow who was there with his family. We became constant companions and matched well in golf, tennis and dancing. I fell for him but he merely enjoyed my company—never mentioned writing so that I discovered the feeling wasn't mutual. I know where I can get his address. Shall I write?"

"I've been going constantly with another fellow who does everything for me, but I can't love him. I know it's human to want the thing that's hardest to get, but I'm unhappy. I'm always falling for some one with whom I haven't a chance—but there's always some one else ready to go with me without any effort on my part. What can I do to make myself more satisfied?"

Contentment comes from the heart and therefore it must be wooed. It cannot be forced. It's most successful wooers are appreciation and gratitude.

Consider your present lot: A college graduate, popular among both boys and girls, 21, a lovely home with a real father and mother.

It sounds like the opening description of a story-book heroine. Not many of my letters begin so happily.

Have you ever pictured yourself without such attributes? Have you ever asked yourself how many of the persons you know, to say nothing of the rest of the world, would gladly trade places with you?

Take a few steps and as each muscle responds lightly and easily, try to realize how it would be to be crippled.

A few years ago a boy, blind since babyhood, had his eyesight restored. When he saw the world for the first time he was standing facing the hospital window and the only thing which met his glance was a red brick wall—long considered an eyesore. But the little boy gazed, rapt and breathless—then murmured "Isn't it beautiful?"

If you will realize in each concrete instance that your sole reason for wanting is because it is hard to get, you will cease to want. When you fall in love, whether your object is hard or easy to get will not enter into your happiness—you will love "just because."

Don't write this boy. He is probably uncertain of his heart and would lose all interest he may have in you. You will probably meet again—until then, try to forget about him and concentrate on making real friends of the boys you know.

Some time, when you least expect it, Cupid will steal up on you and take a fatal shot.

If you wish help with your problems, write to the author.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

JACK looked up and saw the couple at the head of the stairs just as Sue recognized the couple at the foot of the steps.

He waited at the bottom for them to descend.

"Sue, where are you going?" he asked. "I'm no end sorry, honestly. Barbara had an errand and so we drove around to do it."

"It really was important, Jean," Barbara was saying. "And it took ever so much longer than I thought it would. I just can't hurry like other people." The power eyes began for forgiveness.

But Jean chose to disregard them. "O. K. with me. You'll get in on the last act. Sue and I've just remembered an errand of our own."

Sue saw Jack's start. She could feel his eyes watching her. She knew that she should laugh lightly and go with Jean. It would make her look like a silly simpleton if she didn't. But it would make Jack furious. Still, he had kept her waiting. How did she know if there had been an errand? He might think that she was the type of girl over whose eyes a man could pull the wool at any time. She would go!

"We'll see you at the cabin later," she said, smiling sweetly into Barbara's astonished eyes, not looking at Jack.

"Just a minute." The pressure of Jack's hand on her arm was firm and strong and possessive. "I think we're due for a swap in partners, don't you, Brady? Come on, Sue. We're joining the gang later. Make our apologies, Barbara."

Once alone, Jack looked down at Sue with laughing eyes.

"Now, young lady, tell me why you were walking out on me."

"Because you forgot all about me," Sue answered, mirth dancing in her own eyes, and forgotten. "I didn't like being deserted."

"That's a dumb excuse. You know better. Tell the spring in the air tonight? Let's go for a drive and then end up at the cabin with the gang... but there are lots of much more important things for us to talk about than that play. What do you say?"

And while Jack said his more important things Sue forgot all about the uncomfortable time that she had had while Jack was with Barbara. It didn't matter now. How quickly life could turn from bad to good! She wished that she could ride on and on with Jack, on to the end of nowhere, with the lilts of spring in the air and a song in her heart and a lilac moon in the sky and the wind blowing soft against the melting snow. She dreaded to reach the cabin and meet the others of the crowd. She disliked the girls who put their arms so familiarly around every man and gave their kisses so lightly and so freely. She wanted to keep Jack away from it all.

But after a while they came to the old long house set in a cleared patch in the woods, heard the old-fashioned fiddling that was its chief attraction and were swept into a square dance. Sue forgot that she didn't want to come. Everyone was being spontaneous and natural. It was fun.

During an interval Barbara came over to her. "Congratulations, Sue. I see you're wearing the badge of conquest. You should make Jack a faithful, dependable wife."

And the way in which she said faithful and dependable, it seemed to Sue, and a singham apron around her slim waist and left her at the dishing, taking down all the lilac moons from late winter skies when spring came blowing back.

"Oh, Barbara, where's the grass-green stone tonight?" some one called. Sue remembered with a sickening sensation that Harry was completely ignorant of the emerald episode. Sue wondered now revealing Barbara's words would be.

NEXT: Harry is curious. (Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

OPTIONAL WATER RATES IN SIGHT FOR CITY USERS

Expect Council to Adopt Measure With $2 Quarterly Fixed Charge

Menasha—A resolution offering residential water users an optional rate was introduced at the common council meeting Wednesday evening by the water and light committee and referred to the board of public works. The resolution, if passed, will offer a $2 quarterly fixed charge for one family and 75 cents for each additional family on one service and will charge 10 cents for every 1,000 gallons.

The present rate assesses a $3 minimum for all residential water users. If the resolution is passed by the council, written applications from residential water users will be necessary to secure the new rate in their homes.

WILL EXTEND SERVICE

Extension of the city water and sewerage service to residences on the new Jensen plat west of Taylor street was recommended by the board of public works and approved by the council. The sewerage service will be paid by Dr. A. B. Jensen, owner of the plat, and work will be done according to the city engineer's specifications.

A report from the fire and police committee recommended the purchase of four new tires for the fire department's hook and ladder truck and 12 pairs of fire boots for department employees. It also recommended consideration of an automatic resuscitator which was demonstrated to the council at the close of the meeting. The matters contained in the report were referred to the board of public works.

DISCUSS EXTENSION

A report on the possibility of extending Warsaw street was given by City Attorney Melvin F. Crowley. One of the property holders owning land through which the street extension must run has refused to consider an offer of purchase made by the city and condemnation proceedings would be necessary before work is started, Crowley stated. Further action will be taken later in the season if it is expected.

COUNTY BOARD TO COMPLETE SESSION ON NEXT SATURDAY

Applicants for Dance Hall Jobs Appear Before Supervisors

Neenah—Winnebago-co board of supervisors hopes to finish its November session on Saturday. It was agreed that the Friday adjournment will be at noon, leaving that afternoon for committee work and for hearings scheduled by the finance committee on dog damage claims.

The board will be in session Saturday morning, but members of the finance committee will be excused for a special meeting to prepare the 1931 budget report. The windup session is scheduled for Saturday afternoon. State Senator M. F. White introduced a resolution Wednesday, asking that the committee on sheriff's and coroner's accounts employ four motorcycle officers for the county to ride on a halting basis during January, February and March. His resolution was referred to a committee.

Applicants for positions as dance hall inspectors were to appear in person Thursday morning before the board session when all county officers were to be elected during a special order of business. It is believed that 10 dance hall inspectors will be sufficient in Winnebago-co, as there are but six licensed dance halls within the county's limits.

The 1931 highway budget for Winnebago-co, presented Wednesday to the board, mentions proposed expenditures of $341,000, including concrete road construction, $150,000; county trunk maintenance, $140,000; snow removal, $14,000; administration, $8,500; county aid bridges, $7,500; Omaro bridge, $1,000; dust prevention, $20,000. The program recommends paving county trunk T, from highway 110 toward Larsen as far as the funds available will permit. No action was taken on the proposed budget, Mr. Raddatz chairman of the highway committee presenting it at this time to give the board a chance to study it before taking action.

$5,000 TO SANATORIUM

The board has appropriated $5,000 for Sunnyside sanatorium for 1931. It was reported that Fond du Lac already has appropriated a like sum. The appropriation a year ago was $2,500.

The old age pension system in the county will develop as a revolving fund, capable of handling its own expenses, except in the circumstances where individuals added to the lists will make county appropriations necessary from time to time.

The old age pension system was approved here about a year ago and for a starter the county board had to appropriate $15,000. The same sum was asked this year, but Henry Schultz, supervisor from Neenah, chairman of the committee on poor, submitted a resolution which provided for the full amount, but arranged division of funds so that all will not be raised in the 1931 tax levy. His plan is that the county will have to provide $6,288 from its tax roll, and the remaining amount of $8,712 shall be collected by charges made against the various districts of the county having old age pensioners.

By the division the proposed county budget for 1931 is lessened by $8,712. The county board, on Tuesday, handled several matters pertaining to finance. A total of $44,595.53, classed as "earnings of the institutions," was made available for the county home and asylum for 1931. Of the amount $27,967.83 representing the amount Winnebago-co would have to pay to keep its patients in outside institutions, will be raised in the county tax. The remainder of $16,627.40, will be paid by the various districts, which support patients in the institutions. An appropriation of $10,000 for blind aid, the same amount as last year was voted. A sum of $500 was appropriated for the county children's board, and $10,000 was voted for soldiers' relief fund.

JOSEPH SZCZENSKI

Neenah—Joseph Sczesnski, 38, Webster-st, died Tuesday at St. Mary's hospital, Watertown, where he had been taken following a sudden illness while enroute by auto to Iowa. The body was brought to Neenah Thursday and taken to the home. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at St. John church, Menasha. The services will be conducted by the Rev. W. B. Polaczky. Surviving Mrs. Sczesnski are the widow and six children, Mrs. Joseph Smith of Akron, O., Mrs. W. J. Henry of Minneapolis; Nick Sczesnski of Viola, Idaho; Mrs. Anna Klith of Chicago, and John and Theodore Sczesnski of Neenah.

INSURANCE SALESMAN SENTENCED TO JAIL

Neenah—(AP)—Seldon Cray, 40, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses in a fake insurance game was sentenced to six months in the county jail by Judge Silas Spengler here today.

Cray, a man of many aliases, was said to have victimized nearly two score Neenah residents, many of them working girls, who charged they paid him premiums on insurance policies which were never delivered.

DRUNK SENTENCED TO WINNEBAGO-CO JAIL

Neenah—James Harris, arrested Wednesday evening on a charge of drunk and disorderly, pleaded guilty Thursday morning to Justice Chris Jensen and was sentenced to 10 days in Winnebago-co jail.

COACH PREPARES FOR GAGE GAMES

Bell and Neubauer Appear to Be Slated for Places on Team

Neenah—Byron Bell and Edward Neubauer, high school juniors, brothers of Robert Bell and Leonard Neubauer, respectively, members of last year's state championship basketball team, are slated for places on this year's basketball squad.

Both the boys will be out for practice when Coach Ole Jorgenson calls for material. Bell is a likely candidate for his brother's place at center and Neubauer can play either guard or forward. With Barnes, Schmidt, Johnson and Thomsen left over from last year's championship team, and a dozen or more young men who have more than ordinary ability, chances appear fair for another district championship.

The annual inter-class tournament will start next Monday evening. From these players basketball aspirants will be selected.

Leonard Neubauer has been appointed by Coach Ole Jorgenson as his assistant and 1931 team manager.

As a coincident, the younger Bell and Neubauer mentioned above were members of the Neenah baseball team which won the state championship this year, and the elder Bell and Neubauer were members of the Neenah high-school basketball team which won the state championship last March at Madison.

Old Sore Tortured For 30 Years

She Is Happy Now

For 30 long, pain-tortured years, Mrs. J. C. Henderson of North Carolina had an ulcer on her ankle—no matter what treatment she tried or amount of money she spent—nothing helped her distressing condition.

Someone suggested Peterson's Ointment to her—she admits she was doubtful but she was so discouraged with this never-ceasing agony she was willing to try anything.

Before Mrs. Henderson had finished her second box of Peterson's, the ulcer had completely disappeared—she was overjoyed to think that at last she could enjoy living.

Peterson's Ointment accomplishes these near miracles because it's so powerfully healing. Even one application instantly relieves the pain and soreness of bruises, piles, boils—a few days treatment entirely banishes pimples, blackheads—even the long standing cases. A 35c box proves it—all drugstores. adv.

TREAT 67 PERSONS IN LAST YEAR AT COUNTY SANATORIUM

Annual Report of Physician Sees Improvement in Tuberculosis Situation

Sixty-seven patients were treated at the Riverview sanatorium during the last year, according to the annual report of Dr. C. D. Boyd, physician of the institution. The report was presented to the county board this week. Twenty-six of the patients were men and 41 were women. Sixteen of the patients were in the first stage of the disease and all 16 were improved. In 12 the disease was arrested. Nine patients were in the second stage and eight were improved, in eight the disease was arrested and one failed. There were 41 patients in the third stage. Of this number 18 improved, in nine the disease was arrested, 22 failed and 10 died. Seven patients were discharged as being fully recovered.

Dr. Boyd pointed out that every year shows further improvement in the tuberculosis situation in the county. Last year there were only 24 deaths as against 31 deaths from the disease the previous year. In 1912 there were 60 deaths, the report said, and this number has been gradually reduced. The average for the 10-year period from 1920 to 1929 was 45 deaths.

The doctor spends the morning of every day except Sunday at the sanatorium. He said that he is now engaged in working out a system of occupational therapy which he said he believes will aid in the treatment of the disease. The institution now employs four graduate nurses, two undergraduate nurses and four practical nurses.

Another departure during the last year, the doctor said in his report, was the conversion of the west wing of the institution into a department for the care of children afflicted with the disease. He said this would be of great benefit to the children and would aid in making their recovery quicker and easier.

3 BANDITS INVADE 'CRIME-PROOF' AREA AND FLEE WITH GEMS

Chicago — (P) — Apparently there is no such place as a crime-proof section of Chicago.

Three men last night invaded Astor-st, recently described as a district so well patrolled by special police employed by millionaire residents that they regarded it as crime-proof. When they left they took with them jewelry valued by its owners at $2,500 and a small amount of cash.

Mrs. Charles S. Dennis, a resident of Astor-st, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley C. Palmer of Winnetka, Ill., and Mrs. Warren McArthur of Phoenix, Ariz., were the victims. Using pistols to coerce Palmer and the chauffeur of Mrs. Dennis' car, the trio robbed them as they arrived at Mrs. Dennis' home after a theatre party.

The robbers escaped in a motor car, after firing two shots as a warning against pursuit.

More battles, large and small, have been fought on South Carolina soil than in any other state.

BOB SURRENDERS TO FACE GRAND LARCENY CHARGES

New York — (P) — Charles V. Bob, mining engineer and promoter, surrendered Wednesday to district attorney to answer a grand larceny indictment returned against him yesterday.

Louis P. Jubien, business associate of Bob indicted with him yesterday, also surrendered.

The larceny charged in the indictment against Jubien concerns 20,000 shares of Metal and Mining Founders Share, Inc. Jubien had waived immunity before the grand jury.

There is a certificate in the possession of the district attorney which shows he signed as partner of Bob, when affixing his signature in connection with the sale of the stock. Jubien's claim is that he did not know he was a partner.

San Francisco — Tommy Watson, boy scout who had ambitions to play football for Stanford till he lost a leg in a street car accident, is to recover in Herbert Hoover's home on the Stanford campus. He is a brother of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr.

A STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC

In 1880 — over 50 years ago this Store was founded on the Pioneer's principle of square dealing. From generation to generation this principle has been bred into the very marrow of this business.

The growth of this store is the real indication of our honorable service. From a humble beginning we have kept growing and expanding until today we are recognized as having one of the leading quality furniture stores in this entire section — occupying nearly 15,000 square feet of floor space for display rooms alone. People at a distance of 50 to 75 miles from Kaukauna have found their dollars will bring better values at all times at this store.

Buying direct from America's leading manufacturers — and operating on a small margin of profit it is necessary for us to keep our dollars working . . . turn our stock often. But now, owing to conditions, we find we have several times as much capital tied up as we should have. Sound judgment demands immediate action, and we are starting this Sale with 2 purposes in mind — First to move out a great quantity of stock at once. Second to acquaint more people with the Value-Giving ability of our store and to place the name of FARGO'S AT KAUKAUNA before the public in a manner in which it will be remembered with a feeling of satisfaction for years to come. That Folks will be our compensation for loss of profits.

BYRD DESCRIBES ANTARCTIC TRIP TO PACKED HOUSE

Adventure - starved Souls
Crowd Chapel to Hear
Noted Explorer

BYRD

Dick Byrd, whose official name is Richard E. Byrd, rear admiral of the United States navy and who in recent years has been spoken of only in superlatives, brought the Antarctic to some hundreds of adventure-starved souls in Lawrence Memorial chapel Wednesday evening. It was there just as he and his followers caught it on thousands of feet of film. Only the personal perils and discomforts were lacking to take his audience, in body, as it was taken in spirit, to the vast territory that is the bottom of the world.

As gripping a story of life and breath-taking battles with death as was ever presented on the screen, perhaps, was pictured by the modest explorer; but it was so interspersed with ludicrous penguins, pugnacious seals and frolicsome men that any sense of depression was dissolved a moment after it had been created.

Hardly a foot of film, from the first storm on the overcast, voyage to the homeward bound, that did not have its drama. The climax, of course, was the flight over the South pole in the Floyd Bennett airplane named for the admiral's companion on his flight over the North pole in May, 1926, and who later gave his life in an effort to help the fliers on the Bremen, after the German transatlantic plane had landed on Greenly island. Mr. Byrd explained or elaborated upon the various episodes.

Before beginning to screen the drama, the explorer contrasted the Antarctic with the Arctic region, pointing out the more rigorous conditions which exist in the former. The Antarctic, he said, is at least 25 degrees colder than the Arctic and the region about the South pole is entirely devoid of animal life, which is not the case in the North polar territory.

PENETRATE MYSTERIES
More than the actual flight across the South pole itself, it was the aim of the exploration party to penetrate the mysteries of the Ross ice barrier and to make a geological survey. More than 150,000 square miles were surveyed by aerial camera, in a total flight of about 7,100 miles. In addition, over 2,100 miles were covered by dog-sleds and oceanographic observations were made on the 2,300-mile stretch between the Ross Shelf ice and New Zealand.

Among the most dramatic incidents presented in the motion pictures was the rescue by Admiral Byrd of the geological investigators after their plane had been wrecked by an Antarctic storm. Another was the near-wrecking of the Eleanor Bolling, supply ship, after part of the ice sheet had broken off. Only ropes connected with the City of New York, sturdy little sail and motor exploring craft, kept the Bolling from capsizing. Several men were thrown into the extremely cold water, but were rescued by quick action and quicker thinking. Not a life was lost during the entire period.

The building of Little America and the preparations to combat the deadly cold in themselves were an epic of temporary colonization. Three portable houses formed the nucleus of the tiny village. About a dozen snow houses were built around them, all being connected by snow tunnels. These were necessary, the speaker explained, to prevent the possibility of becoming lost during a blizzard, to guard against the severe cold and to afford shelter for the dogs, which could not survive without protection from the elements.

A rare tribute was paid by the speaker to the 80 canines which accompanied the expedition. Civilization, he declared, does not give a dog a chance to prove his fidelity and courage, while the Antarctic does. No grueling test was too severe. Incidentally, Admiral Byrd introduced his pet terrier, Igloo, mascot of the expedition, to the audience.

MONOTONY IS THREAT
Montony was a serious threat to the welfare of the 41 men who remained behind during the long cold and dark season after the City of New York emerged from the barrier to prevent being frozen in or crushed by the ice pack. Strict routine was kept and the men busied themselves by making tents, sledges and ski-boats, as well as by performing their other regular duties.

Methods of dress to combat extreme cold also were described by the admiral. The Eskimo skin proved the best material for this purpose and was used in practically all garments. Moisture from breath and body provided the biggest single problem. Masks, with funnel arrangements to mouth and eyes, were worn in the most severe weather.

Narrow escapes from crevasses which yawned suddenly were numerous and provided many anxious moments for all members of the party.

Mr. Byrd explained the impossibility of making a non-stop flight from the little America to the South pole, due to the inability to carry sufficient fuel for this 1,600-mile flight because of the load limit imposed by the high altitude of the South polar plateau. A base-laying flight was made in November, 1939, to cache a supply of gasoline at the foot of Mount Uansen. This was utilized on the return trip, while the plane's motors were kept running. To stop would have hardened the oil to such an extent that resumption of the flight would have been impossible.

Practically every seat in Lawrence Memorial chapel was occupied.

U. S. UNIVERSITIES HIT IN BOOK FOR TEACHING 'RUBBISH'

New York (AP)—Dr. Abraham Flexner, director of the Institute of Advanced Study in Newark, N. J., in a new book criticizes American universities for teaching "rubbish."

In "Universities—American, English, and German," published by the Oxford University Press, he declares, "the sort of easy rubbish which may be counted toward an A. B. degree passes the limits of credibility."

Institutions, he adds, "have needlessly cheapened, vulgarized and mechanized themselves."

Mentioned clog dancing for men and wrestling among courses that count toward a degree, he says great universities descend to "humbly" in bestowing degrees that represent neither a substantial education nor a substantial vocational training.

Dr. Flexner says there have been unworthy efforts to sell education at a profit if possible, citing as flagrant offenders Columbia and the University of Chicago.

Criticizing the Harvard School of Business Administration, he declares it is an irrelevant and unworthy thing for a modern university to undertake to "short-circuit" experience.

English universities, he holds, are seats of higher learning incomparably superior to anything to America. He asserts there is not a college in America "that has the courage to place athletics where every one knows they properly belong."

AIMS AT REVISION OF CONSTITUTION
ON PUBLIC DEBTS

Marinette Assemblyman
Would Make Exceptions
for Land Purchases

Madison (AP)—A constitutional revision to permit the state to contract larger public debts for the purchase of land and the construction of charitable and penal institutions will be sought during the 1931 legislative session by Assemblyman Charles A. Budlong, Marinette.

Assemblyman Budlong also will introduce a joint resolution calling for the appointment of a committee on reapportionment of the state's assembly, senatorial and congressional districts. Both proposed measures are expected to precipitate battles in the legislature.

Under Section 6 of Article VIII of the constitution, the state legislature may, for the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures, contract public debts which in the aggregate must not exceed $100,000. Under Assemblyman Budlong's plan, the legislature would be empowered to contract public debts up to $10,000,000 for the purchase of land and the construction and equipment of buildings at state charitable and penal institutions.

The assemblyman's plan for increasing the public debt for these purposes will come before the legislature in the form of a joint resolution. Such debts are sanctioned only by a majority vote of all members of each house and on condition that an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest and the principal of the debt within five years be levied.

Widespread agitation for better facilities in penal and charitable institutions is believed to have influenced Assemblyman Budlong in seeking permission for larger emergency appropriations. Statistics compiled by the board of control show that all of the state's penal and charitable institutions are overcrowded and that unwholesome conditions prevail because of insufficient funds.

Legislators from heavily populated districts are expected to lead the fight for more representation during the deliberations on reapportionment. According to the 1930 census, the state has a population of 3,000,378, representing a gain of 14 per cent over the 1920 population.

Under the statute, the legislature must appoint a committee on reapportionment consisting of 16 members, 11 of which shall be assemblymen representing each of the congressional districts and five other senators. A drop in the population of 35 of the 71 counties in the state presages a bitter fight against reapportionment which would give heavily populated districts more representation.

The state constitution provides that contiguous assembly districts may be joined in reapportionment and this may result in the loss of districts to some representatives and a gain for others. Many assembly districts which have shown a heavy growth in population during the past decade will undoubtedly seek not only the additional representation to which they are entitled but also a sufficient number of representatives to cover the expected increase in population during the next 10 years.

DUCE WAGES CAMPAIGN TO CUT LIVING COSTS

Rome (AP)—Premier Mussolini's insistence that the cost of living in Italy be lowered is taking effect in wage cuts and reduced food prices.

Bad, it is announced, will be cheaper shortly in a number of cities and authorities throughout Italy are putting pressure on bakers. Their action is expected to be followed with a similar policy soon toward purveyors of other foodstuffs.

Taking their cue from the government's widespread 12 per cent cut in salaries of government employees Tuesday, newspapermen of Milan last night volunteered to reduce their own wages on an average of about 10 per cent as an example to private industry.

Many businesses are said to be contemplating simultaneous wage cuts and reductions in prices in conformity with the duce's declaration that he would urge business to join the government in cutting costs.

New Education Experiment At University Of Chicago

Chicago (AP)—An experiment of widespread interest in higher education was in preparation today at the University of Chicago.

Through a reorganization of its component bodies, President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the university, said it had taken steps toward the eventual abandonment of the traditional four-year college course and the abolition of long-familiar institutions, such as the undergraduate college and the graduate school.

Besides its professional schools, the university under the reorganization already sanctioned by trustees and faculty, is to consist of five main divisions—the arts, the humanities, and the social, biological and physical sciences—and the college.

The plan aims to inspire capable students to finish their general college course in less than four years. Advancement is to be by comprehensive tests, not by measure of credit hours. President Hutchins said better coordination of teachings and scholarship and a breaking down of departmental limitations which fenced students out of subjects related to their prime interest was considered possible under the revised program. All faculty members with a common interest will be grouped in one of the five divisions.

The plan will take several years for complete realization and a system of "credit bookkeeping" will enable students to measure their achievements and transfer to or from the university during the transition when the old and new systems necessarily will overlap.

FOX BREEDERS ASK LOWER RATES FOR HORSE SHIPMENTS

Animals Are Slaughtered for Food for Foxes, Dealers
Point Out

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—A somewhat unusual and interesting case involving the rates on horses to be slaughtered as food for silver foxes raised on fox farms in Wisconsin is before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The case concerns the rates charged on the horses shipped from points in Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Colorado, and Michigan, to Cedarburg, Thiensville, Grafton, Rib Falls, and Marathon, Wis. The complaint was brought by the Cedarburg Fox Farms stating that present rates were unreasonable, unjust, discriminatory, and prejudicial in favor of competitors at Rockford, Ill. The complaining company sought the application of the "cattle rate" on horses, which is 10 per cent lower than the Wisconsin rate on horses.

The use of the cattle rate for shipments of horses began in Montana in 1924 in an effort to rid the state of its great excess of range horses which consumed food and water and menaced the welfare of stock and sheep. It was later established in 1925 for the same reason in North and South Dakota, and Wyoming on shipments to Illinois. It applied only to "common horses not good for anything but slaughtering."

The defending railroads, which are the latest to file a brief in the case, argue that the Wisconsin fox farms are not entitled to the lower rate; that the lower rate at Rockford is justified by the greater traffic moving to and from that point; that Wisconsin dealers receive more than the $82 average per pel for their silver foxes and should not object to the present freight rates; and that the horse rate applying in Wisconsin is lower than usually prescribed by the I. C. C.

The Cedarburg Fox Farms have about 6,000 or 7,000 breeders and 11,000 young silver foxes. The pelts are sold principally in New York.

One hearing on this case, a joint one, before the Wisconsin railroad commission and the I. C. C., was held at Milwaukee on September 22, 1930.

DEMOCRATS ARE DRY

LEWIS IS PRAISED BY FRENCH CRITIC

Nobel Prize Award Well Received in Europe, Maurois Reports

BY WILLIAM BRIDGES

New York (CPA)—Andre Maurois, the French novelist, essayist and critic, came over to Manhattan Tuesday from Princeton, where he is lecturing until late in January on the French novel.

Mr. Maurois is no glib foreign visitor passing snap judgment on a people and a literature with which he is very little acquainted. Mr. Maurois is quite as at home in American and English literature as he is in the French. He hopes for the day when America will produce a Balzac, a Flaubert or a Proust of her own to interpret America to Europe. But before he developed that idea he commented upon the award of the Nobel prize to Sinclair Lewis.

"It is a good thing," he began. "The award was well received in France and elsewhere in Europe. We welcome it not only because Lewis is a great novelist, but because American literature is thereby recognized as great. Until 30 or 40 years ago—is it not so?—American literature was felt as a part of English letters. That certainly is no longer true, and Sinclair Lewis is a symbol."

If a young American should read Balzac, Flaubert and Proust he would understand France although he had never been there.

"In France we are awaiting a whole host of novelists to explain the United States to us. We need an American Proust and an American Balzac to interpret the soul and mind of your nation."

"But you will do it. You have as much talent among your young writers as any nation on earth. And no other nation has a Hemingway."

(Cop. right, 1936, By New York Sun)

and only four are not dry," he said at a dinner last night. "You can see how hollow is the claim of the Democrats who have asserted that if Democrats are elected the eighteenth amendment would be repealed or the Volstead act amended."

"What chance have the wets for seeing the eighteenth amendment repealed or the Volstead act liberalized by electing Democrats?"

Among the guests at the dinner which was in honor of Dean John E. Gill of Rider college, was Dwight W. Morrow. He did not mention prohibition in his speech.

KEEP Your Child in School

This Winter!

Let This New Antiseptic Discovery Keep Him
Safe from Colds, Throat Infections and Complications!

Winter sees much sickness—the spread of much infection. Every child attending school is exposed to infection from others. The mouth and nose are the parts of the body most liable. The guarding of these parts is the guarding of health as a whole. Put your child on the safe side. Adopt the ounce of prevention rather than the pound of cure.

There is nothing better you can do than have your child rinse his mouth and throat every morning and night with a solution of McKesson's Extol and water.

Higher in Germicidal Value
Higher in Penetration

Extol is the amazing new antiseptic mouth wash and throat gargle that is revolutionizing all standards of germicidal efficiency. It was recently perfected by one of the world's largest pharmaceutical houses. It kills germs faster than any other mouth wash ever known—so fast it is called the "10-second germicide." One minute of gargling with Extol beats hours with any other preparation. It is so highly germicidal that diluted even 1 to 2 it is more efficient than any ordinary mouth wash used straight. Also, it is highly penetrating! This is important for an antiseptic, to be effective, must penetrate the folds and crevices in the mouth and throat; also the mucous membrane, so it can reach the hidden germs and underneath the outer layer of mucus. In other words, Extol reaches the hidden germs that other antiseptics miss.

Delightful to Use
Use as a preventive measure. Extol will guard against colds, sore throat and other infections. If a head cold or a soreness of the throat has already set in, it will relieve it promptly. It is also an excellent means of keeping the gums and teeth in good condition and the breath sweet and pure. Swift and efficient as it is in action, Extol is utterly harmless. As for flavor and refreshing effect, it makes ordinary mouth washes seem insipid by comparison. And, finally, it is more economical to use. Not only costs less than the average antiseptic, but permitting more liberal dilution, goes much further. All McKesson Service Druggists and all independent drug stores sell Extol. Get a bottle today for the protection of your family—adults as well as children. Note the name, EXTOL—a McKesson & Robbins product.

LEVITAN SCORES MONEY CONTROL BY MONOPOLIES

Wisconsin Treasurer Calls It
Undemocratic and Dangerous

New York (AP)—The control of the world's money market by monopolies was termed undemocratic and dangerous by Solomon Levitan, state treasurer of Wisconsin, in a speech before the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers here today.

Legislation to check monopoly was urged by the Wisconsin state treasurer. Speaking of government in business, he said that any policy of business which affects the citizens of the nation adversely should receive governmental attention.

"If we refuse to recognize this fact," he said, "we are but postponing the adjustment of the big problems confronting the nations today, one of which is money control by monopolies. Such control is undemocratic and dangerous. Those who favor methods of monopoly attempt to convince the people that these methods are necessary to meet present day conditions. Do not be deceived by such arguments. Is it not possible that present conditions are in a degree the results of monopolistic methods in business?"

Monopoly which curbs the freedom of thinking and acting will disintegrate religion, government, politics as well as business, the speaker said.

"It is vital that business be free from monopolistic control today," he

Washington (AP)—The range of a senator's daily mail as shown by the files of a distinguished leader:

"Please see what you can do about my claim against the government."

"The bearer is in need of a job; see what you can do for him."

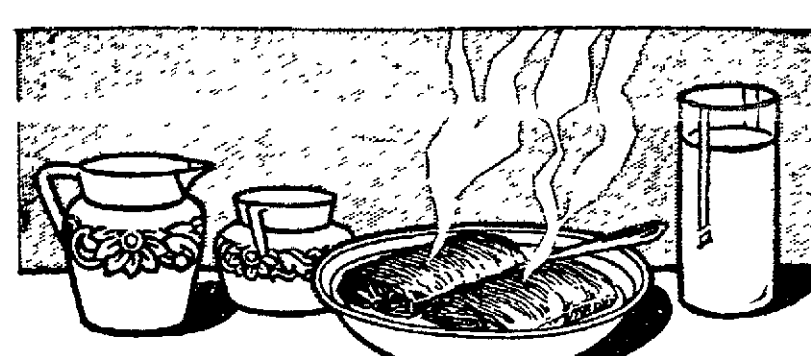

"Your stand on the... bill was fine."

"I wrote ten letters to senator—about my claim and he has not answered one. I demand he be given ten days in jail without a hearing just to see how he likes it. Hold him in jail for three or four days awaiting a hearing in the senate, and then just shove him right into jail and treat him rough."

said, "Independence is the greatest teacher in the world. Its demands upon the citizens bring them face to face with the purpose of government."

Mr. Levitan told the delegates that "in your official positions you are the custodians of a large portion of the nation's wealth and your attitude toward monopoly will carry much weight with your legislators and it is only through legislation that monopoly can be checked."

CONGRESS FACES BIG PROBLEM ON INCOME TAX RATE

Continuation of 1929 Figures May Result in Governmental Deficit

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington — Legislators who have returned to Washington have their eyes firmly fixed on the two bottles with which their desks are equipped—the red and the black ink. A continuation of the 1929 income tax rate for the current year probably means that the United States will “go into the red.” An increase in the rate might delay recovery of business. Those are the horns of the dilemma with which members of congress are faced.

The administration leader has made plain his opinion that the country can stand a deficit. Those allied with him say that such a deficit would be merely a paper deficit and could not endanger the credit of the country.

Some financiers see a way out in the suspension of additions to the sinking fund of the national debt. They point out that since the end of the war the debt has been reduced at the rate of nearly a billion dollars a year and that the country right now is well ahead of the sinking fund program.

They assert that with the sinking fund program eliminated and the payments to the foreign debt assigned also, there would be in the neighborhood of $510,000,000 to meet an expected deficit of about $480,000,000. This latter figure, however, does not include possible calls for purposes of the farm loan board.

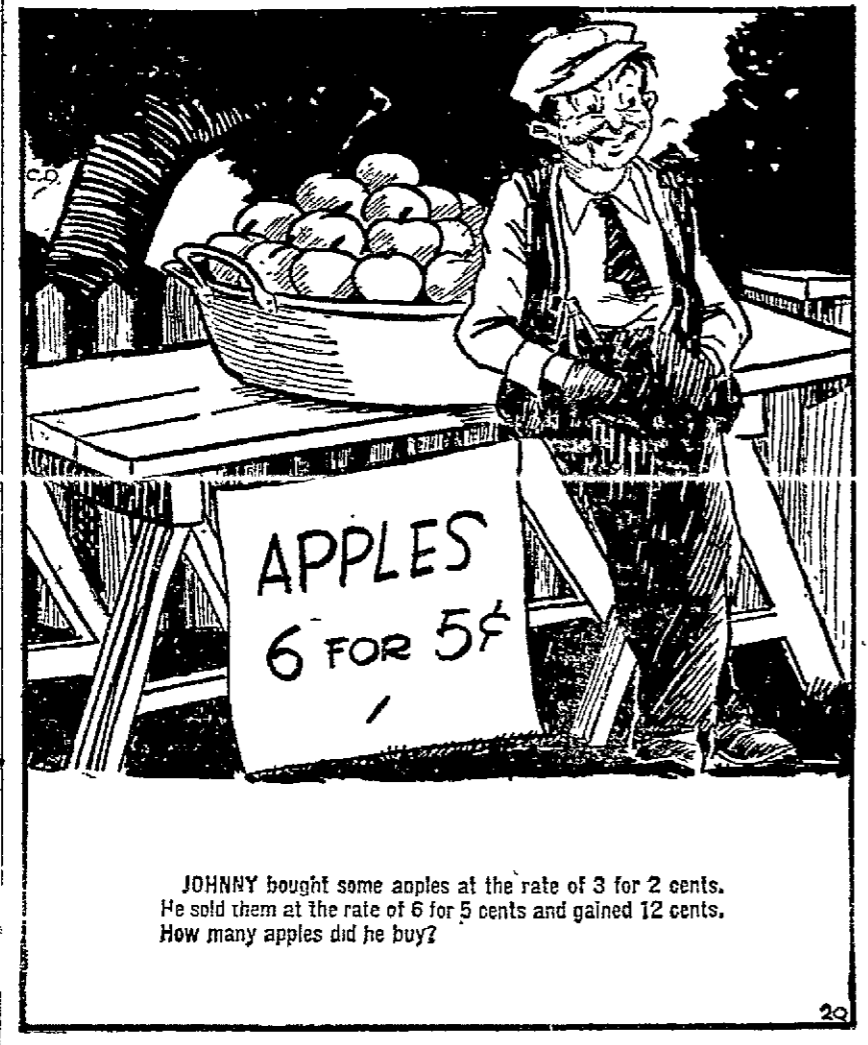

SEE FARM DEMANDS
Members of congress anticipate calls for additional funds for farm relief and to aid the unemployed. These demands, if met, would still further increase the deficit, which few place much below $500,000,000. Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, made it plain Tuesday that this body, which it has enough funds to carry on, is likely to ask for more as soon as congress convenes. Senator McNary is equally emphatic in saying demands will be made for relief of farmers in drought areas.

Senator Smoot, chairman of the senate finance committee, says that the tax reduction applied in 1929 must be abandoned for the year 1930. His opponents declare that a higher income tax rate would tend to halt business improvement and prevent return of revenues to normal.

The continuation of the 1929 income tax rate, the issue of bonds, the temporary nullification of the sinking fund requirements and, in fact, nearly every remedy suggested requires adoption of a joint resolution by congress. With the present make-up of congress and the lineup for and against each proposal, the chances for continuation of the 1929 income tax rate are problematical.

elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

THANKSGIVING DAY GAME
East Green Bay vs. West Green Bay

THE 1930 football season for Appleton high school was relegated to the past Tuesday evening with election of captains for the 1931 season. But in the minds of a few folks is still lingers and hence this one last year.

The Orange finished the year with a victory last Saturday afternoon over East Green Bay and ended the season with three wins and four losses, just a jump this side of an even break. And that isn't half bad for a season that saw plenty of trials and tribulations to be overcome.

Going back a few weeks one will find that Coach Joseph Shields opened the season with a big squad of athletes but mightily few versed in the ways and wherefores of football, in other words inexperienced. Then there were a couple injuries, one a broken collar bone for Jimmy Laird, a veteran performer, and another a severe sprain of the knee for one of the boys were both had up rolling around on ground that hadn't been softened by rain for many moons.

LOSE TO MARINETTE, WEST
The season opened with the Marinette game and saw the Orange defeated. Following that West Green Bay came to town and again the Orange took it on the chin in an exhibition that was almost funny because the boys didn't know the fine points of the game. Fond du Lac also chalked up a win over the boys and indications were that the highs were in for a mighty lean season.

Along about that time there came an open date for the gridders which meant Coach Shields had two weeks in which to drill. During this time the lame and halt recovered, Shields changed the squad around a bit and turned up with his first win, over Sheboygan at Sheboygan.

Manitowoc was the next opponent and with the Shipbuilders having a chance at the valley pennant it of course was a tough job stopping the team. However, the 12 and 0 score indicated the team had possibilities and was much improved over earlier exhibitions.

Oshkosh came to town two weeks ago and again the Orange got into the win column thanks to a perfectly executed play which permitted Krohn to go galloping 72 yards to a touchdown.

The East high game at Green Bay last week closed the season. Here, playing on a muddy slippery field and with a wet ball, the Orange, thanks to Mortell's punting, scored another win. Again the team showed that it had possibilities for East's rushing attack keep the boys on edge throughout the afternoon.

DELFOUGE COACHED SOPHS
Helping Coach Shields this fall was Assistant Coach Seims, who took care of line play and did a very good job of it and Leland Delforge. Delforge spent most of his time with the sophomore members of the squad teaching them fundamentals and rules of the game. The practice was an innovation at the high school and designed to offset the fact that junior high school youths do not play football and therefore come into senior high school with little prospect of being good for varsity.

The practice should bring results next fall when this year's sophs turn out for the team.

Of the 20 men who received letters for this year's work, nine of them the graduating. They are Holterman, captain, Edmunde end, Hecker and J. Rosemeist tackle, Frogner tackle, Mainer guard, Schuster guard, Gutschow center, and Laird guard.

That leaves 11 men with which to form a squad for next season. There also were several members of the squad who failed to get letters but who have makings of mighty good gridders. They too, will be ready next fall and along with Delforge's proteges should make a nice squad.

DRISCOLL TO PLAY
WITH CAT ALL-STARS

Chicago — (P) — Paddy Driscoll, that perennial warhorse of football, who first made Northwestern Wildcats famous 15 years ago, will come out of retirement Thanksgiving day to help Northwestern's all-stars of the past battle a similar aggregation from Notre Dame in their Turkey day charity game at Soldier field.

Driscoll retired at the end of the professional football season last fall, although he still ranked as one of the outstanding stars in the pro field despite his advanced years.

EXPECT 900 BOOSTERS
AT VIKE-CARROLL GAME

Nine hundred Appleton boys and girls, members of the Lawrence college booster club will attend the Lawrence-Cornell game Saturday, according to C. C. Bailey, boys work secretary of the association. Nine hundred tickets are out for the game, Mr. Bailey said, and indications are practically every one will be used. The youngsters go to the game in a group and occupy a reserved section of the stands.

Rockne Has A Hanley At N. D. And He's Good, Too

CHICAGO — (CPA) — Meet Dan Hanley, another one of those Notre Dame boys. Dan is the boy the old magician, Knute Rockne, pulled out of his sleeve when jumping Joe Savaldi, the wandering Italian, decided to wander no more for the glory of old Notre Dame.

Rockne had a good idea that something would happen to Savaldi.

BRUNDAGE NAMED A. O. A. PRESIDENT

Chicagoan Now Heads Country's Two Amateur Athletic Organizations

Washington — (P) — For the first time in history the presidencies of both the Amateur Athletic Union and the American Olympic Association rested today upon the shoulders of one man.

Avery Brundage, big, square-shouldered Chicago contractor, carried the load lightly as befits a former American all-around track and field champion who now, in his early forties, can hold his own with the best in the country at handball.

Although a man of strength and vigor, Brundage owed his position of acknowledged leadership of amateur athletics in this country largely to his genius as a peace-maker.

For several years there rivalry if not open and bitter enmity prevailed between America's two principal amateur sport governing bodies, the A. A. U. and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The election of Brundage to the presidency of the A. A. U. in 1928 signalled the beginning of a serious attempt to heal the breach and yesterday the quiet but hard-working Chicagoan gained his reward in complete and apparently lasting peace.

The burial of the hatchet was indicated when the highest officials of the N. C. A. A. lent their enthusiastic support to Brundage for the American Olympic Association presidency, to which office he was elected by a unanimous vote.

JIMMY AND BILLY SHOW AT GARDEN

McLarnin's Recent Victories Make Him a 2 to 1 Favorite to Cop

New York — (P) — Jimmy McLarnin of Vancouver and Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, meet in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night for a ten round battle.

McLarnin's fists have made him a favorite at 2 to 1 or 3 to 1 in the eyes of his followers. But a good many others who know Petrolle, a veteran who also packs a wallop, are not so sure about that margin.

In his recent battles here, notably the one which saw him belt Al Singer, the recently deposed lightweight champion, into submission in three rounds, McLarnin has had a considerable weight advantage that will not be with him tomorrow. Petrolle plans to come into the ring at about 140 pounds, McLarnin's favorite weight.

The fight fans also point out that the Fargo Express was good enough to run down Tony Canzoneri, who succeeded Singer as lightweight title holder, and to give Jackie Kilberg one of the battles of his life, a record which stands a good bit of comparison with McLarnin's.

U. W. HASN'T BEATEN GOPHERS SINCE 1922

Madison — (P) — It will be more than a slab of bacon that Wisconsin will be fighting for when it closes its football season here Saturday. The game will be one of redemption, one that will mark the first victory over the Gophers since 1922—if the Badgers win.

The rivalry, oldest in the Middle West from point of games, will be renewed with the Gophers holding a 21 to 13 edge in victories. Five games ended in ties.

Recent annual games have piled up the margin of Minnesota victories, although from 1923 through 1925 games always ended in ties, the most dramatic being a 12 to 12 contest in 1925 when George Little's Badgers punned into two touchdowns to the consternation of Dr. Clarence Spears, who had removed many of his regulars in the closing minutes of play.

The game Saturday also will mark Coach Fritz Crisler's introduction to Wisconsin football.

Minnesota has scored 541 points in the 39 games, while the Badgers have counted 337. The greatest together edge was in 1930 when the Northwestern won 63 to 0. Wisconsin's widest margin of victory was in 1897 when the Badgers scored a 39 to 0 victory. In recent years Minnesota counted a 54 to 0 run-away against the 1916 Badgers, coached under the Harvard system, while the great eleven of John Richards' downed the Gophers 35 to 0 in 1921.

KOTAL TO "SHOOT WORKS" SATURDAY

Viking Coach Is Driving Squad Hard in Hopes of Beating Cornell

With everything to gain and nothing to lose and with no games to look forward to, Coach Eddie Kotal is driving his Lawrence college football team hard in an effort to win the season Saturday, with a victory. The Vikings meet Cornell college of Mt. Vernon, Ia., in the season's finale.

Aside from a few bruises and bumps the Viking gridders came through the Carleton game last Saturday in good shape. The men who were battered up have been performing under wraps in practice sessions and are expected to be ready for the first whistle Saturday.

Indications that Kotal will "shoot the works" Saturday are shown in the workouts during the last few days. He has divided his squad into two sections and sent it against each other in scrimmage sessions, apparently intent upon getting cooperation between the line and back field with conditions as near to those of a regular game as is possible.

Cornell college gridders will be strangers in Appleton for the first time since the last time the field was opened. The last game staged in Appleton was on the old Lawrence field when Ossie Cooke thrilled the crowd by catching a punt which bounded out of the Cornell safety's arms and dashed for a touchdown.

INDIANA HARRIERS ARE FAVORED AT TOURNEY

Champaign, Ill. — (P) — Seeking its third successive Big Ten title, the University of Indiana team today ranked favorite to win the annual Western conference cross country run to be staged over the University of Illinois course Saturday.

Sixty runners, wearing the colors of all the conference members, will toe the mark in the race for team and individual honors. Wisconsin and Illinois are expected to offer the Indiana harriers the stiffest competition for the team championship.

FORMER ROOMMATES TO BATTLE SATURDAY

Madison — (P) — The traditional battle between Minnesota and Wisconsin Saturday will bring one of roommates. Pat Boland, Gopher, first string tackle, will be opposite Ed J. Swiderski, Badger guard. In 1928, the boys, both from Duluth, Minn., were roommates here during their freshman year at Wisconsin.

ELEVEN BADGERS PLAY LAST GAME AGAINST GOPHERS

Lubratovich, Gantenbein, Casey, Lusby, Behr Among Those Leaving

MADISON — (P) — Eleven members of the University of Wisconsin football squad, seven of them more or less regulars, will play their last collegiate football game here Saturday when the Badgers tackle Minnesota in their traditional game at Randall stadium.

They are: Ed Swiderski and Art Frisch, guards; Milo Lubratovich, tackle; Milt Gantenbein and George Casey, ends; Neil Hayes, Sam Behr, Bill Lusby, Mickey Bach, Furry Oman, and Jim Wimmer, all backfield men. By a queer coincidence, the major part of the graduates are from Minnesota, and will be aiming to finish their college careers with glory against the state university to which they might have gone as residents.

Swiderski, a regular guard and Frisch, half from Duluth and Chisholm, while Milo Lubratovich, star tackle, spent his high school days in Duluth. Bach is from Minneapolis while Oman came from Chisholm.

Swiderski, Lubratovich, Gantenbein, Casey, Behr, Lusby and Oman all have played more or less regularly, leaving the task of finding nearly a new line up to the coaches next year.

Gantenbein, from La Crosse, has been a regular end for three years, while Casey has held the opposite flank for the last two. He won a letter, however, in 1928, as a first substitute. Swiderski and Frisch are graduates of the "B" team, and the Duluth scrapper has held down a first team berth this season despite his having only 402 punts and Frisch, who started his college career as an all-American, then lapsed after a broken ankle, came back this fall to be one of the Big Ten's leading tacklers.

Lusby, who comes from Chicago, has been a regular his three years in college, and is recognized as one of the leading passers and punters of the conference. Behr, from Rockford, Ill., also is a regular, who has performed both at halfback and quarterback. Neil Hayes, Mooseheart, Ill., has had a varied career. He was regular quarterback in 1927, ineligible the two following years, and started this season in fine form, only to suffer a broken ankle in practice, which kept him out until two weeks ago.

Bach has been a halfback substitute the last two seasons, and closes his career because of competition at Gustavus Adolphus college. Jim Wimmer, Kibbourn quarterback, also is a one-year performer, because of previous competition at Oshkosh State Teachers' college. Furry Oman, the silent Finn from the north, has had a checkered career—a career that was studded by brilliancy on the offense, but weakness on defense. Oman is one of the finest ball-carriers on the Badger squad, as well as a good punter, but Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite says he has been forced to keep Oman on the sidelines frequently because of his weak defensive play against passes.

Willie Kamm May Be With A New York Team In 1931

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright 1930

NEW YORK — (CPA) — In the immediate vicinity of the home of Willie Kamm in California there is an impression, which may be shared by him, that both New York baseball clubs are after his services.

It is stated that the White Sox third baseman has received word in some indirect manner that he is wanted in New York and is not opposed in the least to a direct shock from the baseball skies that will cancel his Chicago affiliation.

The possible transfer of Kamm has not been discussed by the White Sox. There are reasons why it might be kept secret.

Both of the New York teams can use a new third baseman, the Giants being better equipped to go on next year than the Yankees. The Giants have Lindstrom but he is not a steady player. He does some things splendidly and in others he is less accurate. He has not been quite satisfied always with the terms that he has been asked to accept for salary and the Giants have told him without reserve that he has not played third base as they desired to have the position played.

Last year he went to Havana to see Manager McGraw in person in regard to his contract for 1930. He played with the Giants last season but he did not play a perfect game.

Kamm had trouble with the Chicago Americans in 1930 about his salary. He remained in California when he should have been with his team in Texas. Money was the root of that trouble. The Sox had paid extra wages to Kamm for acting as captain for the team in 1929 and before that, and in 1930 decided not to have a captain. Kamm, therefore, did not see any extra money in sight.

If the Yankees play Lazzeri at third this year, they will worry a high class second baseman to try to make a third baseman who will give all that is in him. If they had Kamm at third they would be entrenched on the infield better than they have been since they lost Joe Dugan.

It is much harder to get a lasting good third baseman than it is to get shortstops. Kamm hasn't backed up much and with the Tanks would be one of the surest players on defense in major league baseball. It is quite as true that he would be valuable to the Giants.

If the Chicago club could have its way Kamm probably would play for the Giants, as McGraw and Comiskey are friends and have been for many a year. If Kamm is really to go, there may be some interesting trades between now and April next.

IT SEEMS WE WERE WRONG

New London, Wis.

Gordon R. McIntyre,

Appleton, Wis.

Dear Sir: I noticed your article in the Post-Crescent of Nov. 14, in regard to the Ahl-Thomas fight and to say that I was surprised at the attitude you took in regard to Thomas is putting it mildly.

I feel that you have done one of the cleanest and best jobs in the amateur ranks a great injustice. Whether you did this through prejudice or through pure ignorance of the fight game I do not know. But whatever the cause I feel that when you understand the facts, it is up to you to square yourself with the sport fans in this locality.

You inferred in your article that Ahl was the aggressor when in another place you state that Ahl was waiting for Thomas to come to him. I don't believe if your memory is normal that you can recall one exchange that Thomas didn't start. What I mean is that Thomas made the first lead of every exchange. Ahl bluffed the judges, some of the crowd and one sports reporter into believing he was the aggressor by his style, when in reality I don't believe that one man in the hall could honestly say that Ahl really led throughout the fight.

In regard to scoring clean blows I don't believe that you or any person in the hall saw Ahl score over two clean punches. While I don't believe that you can find any person that saw the fight who isn't certain Thomas landed at least a dozen blows cleanly.

You also state that at the end of the fight Ahl seemed fresh and that Thomas was glad the fight was over. What gave you those impressions? If you was as observing as you evidently were trying to make your public believe, you would have noticed that Ahl's seconds helped him to his feet and that he got out of the ring like an old man and that he had a towel pressed against the side of his face (which was badly bruised). Thomas on the other hand left the ring spry and he went skipping up stairs two steps at a time. Ahl did not even go up stairs, but sent some one up after his clothes and dressed downstairs.

I presume the fact that Thomas' nose was bleeding inspired or rather inflamed your imagination to such an extent that facts ceased to be a factor. The facts of the case in regard to this nose bleed are, that this member was sore and raw and had been for a long time before the fight with Ahl. The least little flick would cause it to bleed. This fact can be verified by any number of people here and by the doctor who has been treating it.

I don't know where you learned your sportsmanship, but it doesn't seem like good sportsmanship to me to say a boy who was outweighed at least six pounds ringside and who did all of the actual leading during the fight.

It seems to me that the requisites of a good reporter, sports or otherwise, should be to observe facts and not let little idiosyncrasies sway his judgment. The fact that you are a reporter on the Appleton Post-Crescent leads me to believe that if you look back over the fight calmly and fairly that you will realize you have made a mistake. And you will be glad to do what you can to square yourself.

Respectfully yours,
C. R. BROWN.

WILLIE HOPPE TRAILS COCHRAN BY 1,000 POINTS

New York — (P) — Halfway through their title match, Welker Cochran of Hollywood, Cal., had a margin of nearly 1,000 points over Willie Hoppe today in their match for the world's 13.1 ballkline billiards championship.

Cochran, playing an almost unbeatable game, has won six straight blocks to pile up a lead of 1,800. Yesterday he won the afternoon block by the close margin of 300 to 239 then ran away with the evening block, 300 to 75.

The Californian hardly has given Hoppe a chance, adding one long run to another while Hoppe has had to be content with ordinary clusters. Cochran had a high run of 143 yesterday afternoon, again passing the former world's record which he had broken the day before, and another of 100 last night.

Grand Rapids, Mich. — W. L. (Young) Stribling, Macon, Ga., knocked out (White) Gorsline, Brown City, Ga., 3-0.

AWARD 19 LETTERS TO GRID PLAYERS AT FALL BANQUET

Coach Lays Success of Season to Cooperation Among Team Members

Kaukauna—Nineteen high school grid players received letters for participation in grid games this season at the annual banquet Wednesday evening at Hotel Kaukauna. They were Robert Vanvenhoven, captain, A. Maier, Robert Minkbeige, H. Niessen, W. Nelson, J. VanLieshout, Vils. Koch, Schwinderman, Toms, I. Rabideau, W. Kuchelmeister, John Nole, McCormick, Schuler, Arps, Jansen, Luedtke, Seggink and Floyd Hartzheim. Hartzheim received the letter award for his work as manager. All the players including Paul Nagan, received certificates showing they were players on the team that won the Northeastern Wisconsin interscholastic conference championship.

"You can be a success individually, though you are playing on a losing team," Coach Dehling of Ripon college, principal speaker of the evening, said. "If you carry out the instructions of your coach to the best of your ability, you are a success individually and you get something out of football that you will never get out of any other kind of work in academic school. You have that self satisfaction."

"The reaction in playing the game right will be a tremendous help in later life because you play to learn. It gives the player the stick-to-it-iveness that is always a large factor in success. If the player does his own job right cooperation and success naturally must follow. It results in team play."

He also brought the congratulations of "Cub" Buck, former Legion grid coach here, on the successful season. He said that the tradition of having winning teams is deep in Kaukauna and that it must be carried on.

Coach Paul E. Little said that he believed the reason for the successful season, during which the team won the Northeastern Wisconsin interscholastic league championship, was because of the cooperation spirit displayed. Team speed and not individual speed was also a great help. The outlook for next year is fine, he said, but he warned the players against overconfidence.

Superintendent of Schools J. F. Cavanaugh presented the letter awards. He said the results of the good training was apparent in every game. Olin G. Dryer, principal of the high school, said that the team represented the best that the local school has ever had. The attitude of the players made success possible.

Music at the banquet was furnished by the Wilpolt orchestra. The dining room was decorated in school colors by the Rah Rah Girls club of the school.

CLOSE NAVIGATION ON RIVER SATURDAY

Fox River Company to Operate Boats Few Days Longer, However

Kaukauna—Navigation on the Fox river will officially close Saturday, according to word received here from government officials. Boats of the Fox River Navigation company will continue to operate until Wednesday, Nov. 26, Ben Prugh, head of the company here, stated. There are a number of loads of coal that must be hauled and then the boats will be docked between the third and fourth locks for the winter. Several men from the present working crews will be retained to make repairs on the barges.

Closing of navigation is earlier this year than last year because of some work to be done on the dam at Little Rapids. Last year navigation did not close until in December.

Business has been very good on the river this season, Mr. Prugh stated. During the first part of the season it was poor, but after a few months it increased rapidly. This was partly due to low water in the river making it necessary for the consumers to use more coal. The company could keep busy for one or two more weeks if navigation on the river were not closed.

Two crews were employed by the company keeping the boats running day and night. Hauls were made from Green Bay to various points along the river.

DAGGER

by Mary Dahlberg

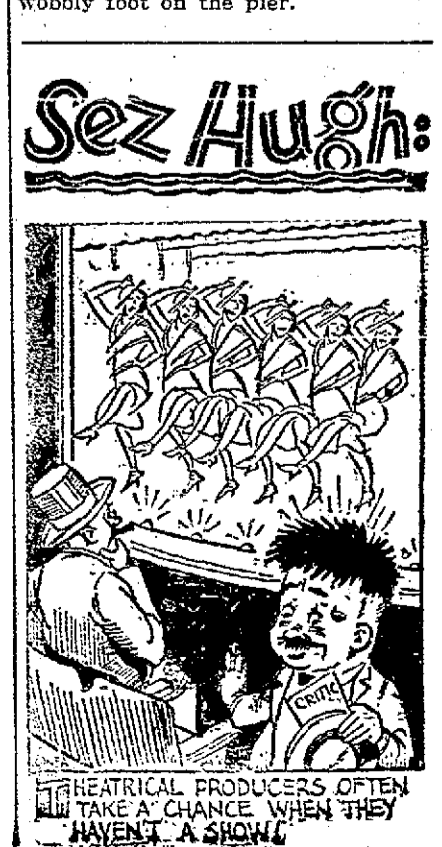

SYNOPSIS: Dagger Marley, 16-year-old niece of a Texas rancher, rescues Blaine Howard, American adventurer, from some Mexican insurgents. She falls in love with him, but Howard is already married, though unhappily. Later he is reported dead on the Western Front in France, and Dagger is heartbroken. She meets Captain Jack Vaneer, flying ace, and they are married when he is suddenly ordered back to France. In New York, at Vaneer's home, his mother meets Dagger with icy disapproval, but his father and sister Kitty like her at once. Meanwhile Vaneer is wounded in France, Dagger meets Dick Welling, now Lord Wenlock, a self-exiled Englishman who lived at her uncle's ranch. He reveals he is to marry Howard's widow, whom he has always loved, and who was forced to marry Howard by a fortune hunting mother. Captain Vaneer is ordered home and the family goes to meet him at the pier.

Chapter 18
A WRECK OF A MAN
KITTY regarded askance the wan figure of Captain Vaneer slouching on the lower-deck rail.
"Fasting the booze again," she commented inelegantly. "Seasickness medicine, I suppose."
Jack glowered down at them. He had a cane, they could see, and one leg was strapped into an iron framework. His uniform was spick-and-span, but his face, even at this distance, showed bloated and spotty. There was a strained look around his eyes, and his shoulders stooped as if they supported a weight too heavy for them. A hint of desperation in his bearing wrung Dagger's heart; but what hurt her most was the evidence of dissipation written broad across his features. No war-shock, alone, there. He had been drinking heavily, in defiance of his promise to her.
"He looks very unwell," Mr. Vaneer said thoughtfully.
"How could he look well after what he's gone through?" objected Mrs. Vaneer. "Poor, dear boy! He must have suffered agonies. We must all try to make him comfortable, Alexandra."

"If he'll let us," Dagger answered mechanically.
"Let us! Of course, he'll let us," Kitty muttered. "Blame that on the word 'spoiled' in it, and Mr. Vaneer fluttered conciliatingly. Dagger took to further part in the conversation. Her mind was occupied by a series of bitter reflections during the interval of making the steamship fast. A promise, to her, was a promise, not to be lightly given, never to be evaded, much less broken; and she couldn't resist the conviction that she would be unable to respect a husband whose code was different.
But when she glimpses Jack's shambling hulk at the end of the gangplank, she managed to bar such thoughts from her mind, and mustered a cheery, smiling face. Her arms were open for him as he planted a wobbly foot on the pier.
She patted his cheek, motherwise, his offenses forgiven.
"We'll fly together, Jack, dear. Let's organize a transportation company. Oh, there are lots of things to do. We might travel. I'd like to see the world and if we flew it would be doubly fascinating, wouldn't it?"
"Maybe not. Not a bad scheme. But I don't know - can't fix my mind on anything yet." He r restlessly. "Let's have a drink. go out and see the town after dark. People over here are for the war; they can be gay and themselves. That's what I'd like to do."

For a time Dagger clung to the hope that Jack's condition was temporary, a case of soul-shock such as was common among the returning soldiers, so suddenly released from the nerve-strain of the war; but as the weeks passed he became no better. He had no serious interests, and couldn't be persuaded to adopt any; his injured knee precluded him from active sports; all he cared about was gambling and drinking, two cravings it was impossible for him to satisfy.
Jack's parents suffered as much as she and in the Spring when Mr. Vaneer died suddenly of a heart attack, Dagger knew that grief had hastened his end. Meanwhile Kitty had married an old lover back from the war and had gone to Detroit to live.
Can Dagger persuade her husband to pull himself together and be once more the man she loved in Texas?
Holland, Mich., will have 1,000,000 tulips in bloom, its residents hope, at next year's annual tulip festival. During the last three years the town has imported 2,250,000 bulbs.

ROOSEVELT QUICK TO FOLLOW REPORT ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Calls Meeting Of Eastern Governors to Go Over Question

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)
New York — (CPA) — Governor Roosevelt's summons to eastern governors for a conference on stabilization of employment, announced Tuesday, is a quick follow through on the report of the governor's committee on the stabilization of industry, submitted last week. This report, given only perfunctory attention in the news is, in the view of informed persons here, one of the most searching, authoritative and comprehensive studies of the bed-rock problem of pay-rolls versus bread lines ever made.

The main points stressed by the governor in his call are thoroughly covered in the previous report, and it is indicated that the latter will serve as a guide, or at any rate as a stimulus for some informed and unified action in the industrial state of both remedial and preventive value. On the whole, so far as the stabilization of industry and employment is concerned, this is perhaps the first official departure from the tradition of the Arkansas traveler. When the weather was fair, the hole in the roof didn't need patching and when it was raining he didn't want to get wet.

Miss Frances Perkins, New York state industrial commissioner, is given credit here for a large share in New York's generally intelligent and energetic attack on unemployment problems.

CAREER AFTER COLLEGE

She came out of Holyoke college, fired with humanitarian zeal, to observe the triangle shirt waist fad, with its tragic loss of life due to inadequate factory regulation. She and a number of other energetic young women surrounded Assemblyman Al Smith and aroused him to new enthusiasm and understanding, which, when it finally got in action, made him governor and brought in the most enlightened programs of social legislation in America. This also started Miss Perkins on a unique public career.

When the business depression started last year, Miss Perkins had a disquieting way of deflating the soothing bedtime stories about the old hardtimes boyie being just a psychological shadow on the wall. Time and again, her efficiently organized reporting service won a decision over some unduly optimistic governmental figures.

This correspondent, touring the east shortly after the beginning of the depression, found state labor commissioners and heads of federal bureaus deploring the lack of co-operation between states, and between the state and the federal government. It was agreed that the elaborately organized state and federal service lacked adequate plans, machinery and personnel, in the face of a real crisis. It is now generally agreed that all routine governmental agencies, exclusive of President Hoover's quick and energetic action, hung up a low score in connecting men with jobs, or, in general, stabilizing either industry or employment.

DOGS ALSO GO MAD IN WINTER. SAYS EXPERT

Madison — (P) — Mad dogs are not found only in hot weather, according to Dr. W. Wisnicky, chief of the livestock sanitation bureau of the state department of agriculture and markets. He says that contrary to general opinion there are just as many cases of mad dogs in the fall, winter and spring.

Dr. Wisnicky advises persons bitten by dogs to visit a doctor and that dogs, suspected of being mad, be held for a laboratory diagnosis.

HELPED ON REPORT

Miss Perkins was an ex-officio member of the governor's committee on the stabilization of industry and made important contributions to the report. This report and the governor's subsequent call to the governor's is one of the first encouraging official answers to bureaucracy, non-cooperative effort and lack of state and federal team-work which have slowed down constructive stabilization programs in the past. President Hoover's commission on economic changes made a disappointingly casual reference to "technological employment." The New York report picked up this and other basic considerations with a degree of scientific detachment seldom noted in official studies of the kind. As fundamental as the studies of Beatrice and Sydney Webb, in England, it is free of their doctrinaire aspects and unquestionably will provide a substantial groundwork for the discussions at the conference of governors to be held in January.

In addition to Miss Perkins, the report was prepared by Henry Brueere, chairman, Ernest C. Draper, Maxwell S. Wheeler, John Sullivan and Henry H. Stephens, Jr. The committee acknowledges the cooperation of Professor Paul H. Douglas of the University of Chicago.

Fly Rod Considered Best For Small Bass Fishing

BY B. A. CLAFLIN

Here is another one for you scrap book builders who are already getting lined up for next season's fishing trips. Almost every angler who has caught a small mouth bass, especially on light tackle, will admit that Dr. Henshall was right when he called him the gamiest fish that swims. Even salmonides will furnish you a thrill although taken as they generally are from the quiet waters of a lily pad infested lake. It is their strength and natural pugnacity that gives you the kick. But when you hook into a small mouth of good size in fast water—and that is where he is generally found—you have some work to do for you if you are using a fly rod.

In my opinion that is the proper equipment. Personally, I use a high grade split bamboo weighing five and seven eighths ounces. It requires longer time to subdue a bass on equipment of this kind than it does if you use the stiff and dead wood rod, but there is little real comparison so far as real sport goes between the two.

At one time I thought the best small mouth fishing to be had was in the Mississippi river below Wabasha, Minnesota. It was real sport but hardly the best as I have subsequently found. While I outfitted at Alma, on the Wisconsin side, I did my fishing below the long wing dams on the Minnesota side of the river.

The first trip I made there I was told by the old guide that my outfit was not good for the big scrapers which we were going to encounter. He changed his mind, however, and I am still using that little rod, not only for bass, but for other fish of even greater weight.

Admittedly the Mississippi bass are gamy, more so, I think than those found in most of our inland lakes. It is their nature, but fast water helps them materially. There is a strong current in the Mississippi. It whirls around back of the rushing torrent such as I found in the Chippewa river, which is the stream I started to tell you about.

I was advised by Reilly, the sporting goods man of Wabasha, to make the trip down the latter stream from Durand to where it enters the big river a short distance above the trestle bridge. He said I would note the difference in "hand bass" of equal size to those I had taken in the Mississippi. I followed his advice and found his statements correct.

My party used artificial flies, taking most of our best fish on the "Yellow Sally" and "Lord Dunsmore" patterns. These two flies are very unlike, but who can account for the taste of a small mouth bass? From the boat we cast among the big rocks along the shores and the hollow "smack" which followed the rush of one of these big scrapers was music enough. The distance from Durand to the Mississippi is about thirty-five miles. It requires two days to properly fish that stretch. And when they are biting on boys!

GAME WARDENS NAB 291 IN STATE LAST MONTH

Madison — (P) — Game wardens arrested 291 persons in October, exceeding by 55 the number arrested during the same month last year, the state conservation commission announced Wednesday.

The arrests resulted in jail sentences of 1,180 days and $7,687 in fines. Wardens arrested 183 persons for violating hunting laws and 39 for illegal fishing. Trapping violations caused the arrest of 23.

Oneida county took the lead last month with 33 arrests, the commission said. Sawyer was next with 23.

BANKERS BACKING EFFORT TO REACH RAIL AGREEMENT

Realize That Credit of Railroads Has Been Seriously Hampered

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York.—The influence of the bankers who for years have furnished the capital for the expansion of eastern railroads has been for the first time placed behind the effort now being made to bring about an agreement between the carriers. This, it is hoped, will result in the success of the original four party plan.

Conferences of the railroad executives took place again Tuesday and confidence was expressed that an early announcement satisfactory to all of the interests involved would be made.

The bankers for the Pennsylvania railroad and for the Baltimore & Ohio are Kuhn, Loeb & Company. This firm has for years headed all of the syndicates that have distributed the bonds and equipment trust issues of these roads. It has also underwritten the various stock offerings made by the two companies. Closely associated with it in this financing have been the National City Company and Speyer & Co.

BACK WABASH ROAD
The Wabash railroad, which was slated by the interstate commerce commission to be the fifth system in the eastern group, has also had Kuhn, Loeb & Company for its bankers. They were the financial agents for the Missouri Pacific after the reorganization and have been identified with its affairs in recent years. This property is now controlled by the Van Sweringen.

Bankers for the other two systems in the four party plan, namely New York Central and the Nickel Plate, the latter including the New York, Chicago & St. Louis, Chesapeake & Ohio and Erie, are J. P. Morgan & Company. Associated with them, especially in Nickel Plate financing, is the Guaranty Trust company. Numerous investment houses of smaller size have always been conspicuous on the circulars of bond and stock issues offered by the Van Sweringen properties.

REFUSED TO TAKE PART
Until recently these railroad bankers have, to a large extent, refused to interfere with the strictly management policies of the eastern carriers. They have looked on with a good deal of questioning and some irritation while purchases of independent lines for strategic purposes have been made at what, by Tuesday's measurements, of market value, seemed to have been reasonable prices. It is understood that at one time when the four party plan situation became acute, J. P. Morgan was asked to be an arbiter between the contending interests but he declined.

The position now taken by the bankers for the four trunk line roads is that railroad credit has been seriously affected recently by the heavy decrease in gross and net earnings and by new competition that has entered into the life of every American railroad. Consequently, they feel that it is time for the railroads to get together, rather than continue to oppose each other, and adopt a plan of consolidation in the most important area in the United States, not only for the operating economies that this would permit, but as an indication to the public that the carriers are taking combined action to offset current unfavorable conditions.

THREE BOTTLES KONJOLA GAVE FINE RESULTS

New Medicine Ended Stomach Trouble — Lady Now Suffers No After-Eating Distress

MRS. EMMA BIGELOW
"I think Konjola is a wonderful medicine," said Mrs. Emma Bigelow, 1425 South Summit avenue, Sioux Falls, S. Dak. "For a number of years I was troubled with gas forming in my stomach. Many times I belched particles of undigested food. Often I had pains in my abdomen and my stomach felt very heavy."

"After reading about Konjola I decided to give it a trial. I noticed improvement after the first bottle. I have now taken three bottles and feel much improved. I can eat most any food without belching or having that heavy feeling. I very seldom have gas or bloating. I have a wonderful appetite and feel better throughout my entire body."

Konjola seems at the peak of its powers in those stubborn cases that have defied and resisted all other medicines and treatments tried. All that is asked for this medicine is that it be given a chance to prove its merits.

Konjola is sold in Appleton, Wis., at Schiltz Bros. Drug Store, and at all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

COUPE STOLEN HERE OCT. 28TH RECOVERED

Appleton police have been informed of the recovery of a Ford coupe belonging to Bernard Bohm, 613 W. Summer-st., which was stolen Oct. 28. The car was located at Marinette and Mr. Bohm has gone after it. Reports received here are that the car was recovered a few days after it was stolen but that a mixup in the attempt to learn the owner resulted in local police not learning of the recovery until Tuesday.

conferences have to do primarily with the disposition of the Lehigh valley and Wabash holdings of the Pennsylvania company and an arrangement by which the Pennsylvania railroad secures additional facilities in the Lake Erie territory. It is understood that one phase of this controversy had about been settled a week ago when new complications arose. There obviously will be some difficulty in dealing with the Lehigh Valley-Wabash holdings of the Pennsylvania at a time when the market prices of both stocks have depreciated so much below their original cost to their present owner.

There seems to be little disagreement over the proposal for the New York Central to assume control of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, of which it now has a high percentage of voting power, and less objection to the assignment of the Reading and Jersey Central to the Baltimore & Ohio than when the negotiations were active two years ago. Inasmuch as the questions at issue are now more of a financial than of a management or operating character, the counsels of the bankers identified with the four properties are likely to have more weight than if they had been projected into the situation in the earlier stages of the dispute.

900 OUTAGAMIE-CO HUNTERS EXPECTED TO SEEK WILY DEER

Believe 50,000 Hunters Will Invade North Woods from
Dec. 1 to 10

More than 900 Outagamie-co sportsmen are expected to be among the 50,000 hunters who will invade the north woods from Dec. 1 to 10 in the hopes of bagging a buck. This year, 1930, is an even numbered year and under the state law the season on deer will be open for 10 days from Dec. 1 to 10. In 1929 there were 971 deer tags issued by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, and this year he expects to issue at least the same number and probably more. Already the rush for licenses and tags has started and Mr. Hantschel expects his office will be kept very busy during the next two weeks issuing the necessary permits.

Michigan has an open season on deer from Nov. 15 to Nov. 30 but it is not expected that many Outagamie-co hunters will go to that state for the shooting.

It was estimated that 50,000 hunters went into Wisconsin woods for deer two years ago and from reports of the conservation commission, the number should be even greater this season. That Brown-co will be well represented among the hunters is certain as more than 800 persons already have taken out deer tags and licenses with Harold J. Neville, county clerk.

The open season applies only to the northern part of the state. There is no open season in 49 counties. These comprise all of the counties south of Green Bay as well as many of the counties north of this latitude, including Brown, Shawano, Door and Kewaunee-co. Even in open counties there is much closed area as state park and game refuge land.

Each licensed hunter is permitted to kill one male deer of not less than a year in age. Trapping or hunting deer in any manner other than with a gun held at the shoulder is prohibited. Night hunting is against the law, activities being confined to one hour before sunrise and one hour after sunset. It is unlawful to hunt deer in water, as swimming a stream or lake, or with bright lights or dogs, or lured by salt, or an elevated scaffold. No dogs are permitted to be in or about any deer or other hunting camp in the open season or for five days before or five days after the season.

Although reports from the deer country say there are many deer this year, state game officials, declare that their estimates, based on actual count and fairly scientific conditions, show that there are less deer in number this year, than there were last year.

No deer can be hunted in the counties of Adams, Brown, Buffalo, Cal-
